Japs Bomb Islands Off Java

Batavia
Feb. 17 (AP)

•OFFICIAL NEWS

Japanese planes, possibly in a preliminary to the expected direct assault on Java, heart of the Dutch East Indies, today bombed and machine-gunned several small islands in the narrow Sunda Strait separating Java and Sumatra.

The Dutch communique, issued through the Aneta, said several persons were killed and others wounded, though little material damage was done.

Dutch bombers were credited with a direct hit on a Jap transport and a probable hit on a second transport in an attack presumably staged off the Sumatra coast.

SHOOT DOWN TWO PLANES

In a raid on a Japanese-held airfield at Palembang, south Sumatra oil center which the Dutch destroyed before the Japanese occupation, Dutch bombers also shot down two Japanese fighter planes, the communique said.

Java, most important of the Dutch islands, the site of the naval base of Soerabaja and seat of the United Nations' southwest Pacific command, now is deprived of the buffer strength of Singapore and is exposed to direct assault from three sources.

These were from Sumatra, to the west, across the 20-mile-wide strait of Sunda, and from the islands of Borneo and Celebes, across the Java sea to the north.

"SCORCHED EARTH"

The Dutch defenders' application of the "scorched earth" policy to oil fields and installations on Sumatra and Borneo in advance of the onrushing Japanese has cost about one billion guilders (about $540,000,000), in formed sources estimated tonight.

They asserted that sufficient oil stores had been accumulated in Java to meet United Nations war requirements in this area for some time, but pointed out that at some future date the Indies will have to import oil for the first time to supplement the meager stocks produced on Java itself.

Rubber Plants Plan Vetoed by Roosevelt

United States bombers were believed today to have inflicted swift and deadly vengeance upon some of the German submarines reported to have sunk or torpedo-damaged seven tankers and left 59 sailors dead or missing in barracuda-infested and flaming waters along the Venezuelan coast.

Lieut.-Gen. Frank Andrews, chief of the United States Caribbean defense command, came under fire during the surprise shelling early yesterday of the huge Standard Oil Company refinery in Aruba, Netherlands West Indies, by a submarine which surfaced less than a mile off the port.

The commander reported on his arrival last night from Aruba that American planes took to the air from both Aruba and Curacao as soon as the attacks began and oil found on the waters later indicated that some submarines had paid for the raids.

It was officially reported no damage was done to the refinery but members of the party with Lieut.-Gen. Andrews brought terrible tales of shooting flames reaching mountainous proportions in Aruba Harbor; of despairing cries from men doomed to die there, and of tracer shells screaming overhead as they watched the raid.

7 SHIPS VICTIMS

The reports that seven ships had suffered from the submarines were made in Maracaibo, Venezuela, by executives of the Largo Petroleum Co. and survivors of the ships.

The reports gave this tally:

1—MONAGAS, 2675-ton tanker owned by the Mene Grande Oil Company, Venezuela, torpedoed and last seen on fire 25 miles northwest of Las Piedras, Aruba island. Five men missing from a crew of 31; 26 landed at Las Piedras.

2—ORANJESTAD, 2396-ton Lago Shipping Company tanker sailing under British flag, torpedoed off Aruba.

3—PEDERNALES, 3945 tons,

BRITISH FIX NEW BURMA BATTLE LINE

Rangoon
Feb. 17 (AP)

•OFFICIAL NEWS

By DANIEL De LUCE

The battle line of Burma was drawn today near the head of the Gulf of Martaban, around which lies the Burma road, China's invaluable gateway to the sea, and the pathway to India.

The new line was announced by the British, who said they had withdrawn 30 miles from the Thaton-Duyinzeik area to the line of the Bilin river to take advantage of it as a potential springboard for counterattack and to extricate Imperial forces from a position where infantry units might have been overwhelmed piecemeal by the Japanese.

The withdrawal, carried out Monday, apparently forfeited the railroad center of Thaton, setting the British right flank back about 40 miles north of Japanese-held Moulmein and about 105 miles by road from Rangoon.

Thus, in six days, the Japanese have advanced 60 miles from Martaban, after crossing the Salween river from Moulmein.

FROSTBITTEN NAZIS LOSING RUSS BASES

Moscow

•OFFICIAL NEWS

By EDDY GILMORE

Russian troops on the northwestern front crushed formidable German counter-attacks today and were reported endangering Novgorod, strongly held enemy city 120 miles from Leningrad.

Russian war dispatches said the Germans, attempting to hold basic points for Hitler's spring drive, hurled tanks into counter-thrusts in the Donets basin and the Russians inflicted bloody casualties. Fresh Nazi reserves were used.

Along the Finnish frontier near Murmansk and Kandalaksha, German and Austrian troops were reported suffering intensely from frostbite.

British-made Hurricane fighters and British-made tanks were hammering the Germans in the center before Smolensk. The army publication Red Star said reserve troops were being accumulated both by the Germans and the Soviet.

"The fate of the whole world depends upon the battles on our front," Red Star commented. "The Allies help not only us but themselves with their supplies."

(Stockholm reports said Russian cavalry had recaptured 40 positions in White Russia, and that six German battalions had

Germany lost the use of her 26,000-ton battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst "for some time to come" and Britain strengthened her command of the seas in last week's battle of the English Channel, Prime Minister Churchill declared today in an accounting to the House of Commons.

Damage inflicted on the German ships during their dash for freedom will lay them up for repairs, the Prime Minister declared.

Before they are seaworthy again, he asserted, "the royal navy will be reinforced by important units of the highest quality" along with big new ships joining the United States Navy to meet their challenge.

Churchill was facing his parliamentary critics for the first time since the naval episode last Thursday and the fall of Singapore, which had stirred up demands for change which for a time appeared to threaten his government.

WON'T EXPLAIN SINGAPORE

But his report was confident and optimistic and he yielded nothing to their demands.

To the exhortation that he relinquish the extra burden of the ministry of defense, a portfolio he now holds, Churchill answered "no."

But on the "extremely grave" event of the fall of Singapore, he promised a debate "when carefully considered statements may be made."

"It would ill become the dignity of the government and of the House, and would render poor service to the alliance of which we are a part, if we were dragged into recriminations at a time when our minds are oppressed with a sense of tragedy and with the sorrow of so lamentable a misfortune," he said.

He was greeted by a flood of questions after his statement. One, by Conservative William Davidson, asked if it were not time the British government took steps to prevent daily reports on weather and other information on the British Isles from reaching Germany via her legation in Dublin.

There was no reply.

As Churchill left, followed by a number of Conservatives, Communist William Gallagher commented:

"Is it any wonder we are losing the war and that the Empire is being lost when you have people like this?"

Churchill said Justice Sir Alfred Townsend Bucknill of the high court of justice had begun an inquiry into the channel escape with the assistance of a naval and an air force officer.

LIKE PEARL HARBOR PROBE

The investigation began yesterday and the prime minister has asked that it be completed within

The inquiry will be secret and its findings probably will not be revealed.

Hub Pulls Blackout Switches Tonight

In America's first real blackout test, Boston tonight plunges into total darkness from 10 to 10:20 p. m. with all the grimness of total war.

BOSTON POLICE DON HELMETS, CARRY CLUBS
Ready for Hub's First Blackout Test

True, there have been blackouts in Philadelphia, Seattle and San Francisco but all have been voluntary tests and half-hearted ones in which offenders were merely cited as unpatriotic.

But when the lights go out tonight in Boston it's the real thing with penalties that will be remembered by anyone who elects to treat the test lightly.

No one without authority can walk the streets. No one can move an automobile.

Those who refuse to stay indoors will be hailed into court to learn through fines and possibly jail sentences that the city isn't fooling. Anyone who refuses to immediately halt his automobile at the curbing faces a 15-day suspension of license at the hands of Registrar Frank A. Goodwin.

ORDERS ARE STRICT

For anyone bent on crime, the measures to be adopted are swifter and surer. They will probably promptly end up in the hospital for the city's 20,000 defenders have orders to act swiftly against those whose actions are suspicious

Every one of the city's 2200 police officers will be on duty, as will 3500 of the new auxiliary policemen, the latter equipped with long nightsticks which they are empowered to use freely if the occasion should demand.

In addition, there will be thousands of air raid wardens looking for violators. The latter have been

KNUDSEN IN BOSTON, SEEKS ARMS SURPLUS

America can, and will, produce twice as much war material as any other nation in the world, Lieut.-Gen. William S. Knudsen, war production chief, declared today while on a tour of Boston defense plants.

"Our program is all set for 1942 and we'll complete that schedule before the year is ended," he said. "Right now, however, we're behind in fulfilling the demands of the Army and Navy."

He was enthusiastic about the work done thus far, but warned:

"We've got to get together and work hard. Remember, we're behind in everything until we get more than we can use."

"U. S. CAN'T BE BEATEN"

The tall, distinguished-looking production chief answered reporters' questions calmly and in a low voice until one newsman asked:

"Do you think it possible for us to be beaten?"

Pounding a fist into his palm, Knudson shouted:

"Hell, no!"

He said his trip through New England was undertaken to survey all existing facilities for war production. Every plant, no matter how large or how small, that can produce for war must be used, he said.

WOMEN'S AID IN WAR

Knudsen gave no figures on plane producton but said he was "very much pleased" and:

"We're meeting the crisis as far as we've gone."

He lauded the unity of American workers and pointed out that the country is having no serious labor trouble at the present time.

Women will play a great part in the war program, he said.

"Their nimble fingers make them apt for the assembly of small parts in airplanes," he said. "They're being used now in California plants and it's working out very good."

Knudsen reported a substantial increase in production of vital war

BUY BONDS FOR BOMBERS

NEW HAVEN WORKERS' PLEDGE SENDS DRIVE TO $3,000,000 MARK

Boston Evening American Photo
$100,000 PLEDGED—Louis S. Cashman, treasurer of the New Haven Railroad Employes Credit Union, dictates a letter to his stenographer, Katherine Lane, endorsing the Buy Bonds for Bombers campaign and pledging $100,000 to the fund.

Over the $3,000,000 mark the BUY BOMBERS WITH BONDS campaign soared today with a "conservative pledge" of $100,000 by the New Haven Railroad Employes Credit Union.

Launching this second week of the drive by the Boston Daily Record-American and Sunday Advertiser, in co-operation with the Treasury Department, the railroad workers thus pledged their FAITH IN THE FUTURE OF AMERICA.

It is a novel plan devised by officials and directors of the New Haven Credit Union, as outlined to the BUY-A-BOMBER Editor of these newspapers.

"At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of this organization held today at the South Station," wrote President William D. Birge and Treasurer Louis S. Cashman of the Union, "the Record-American, Sunday Advertiser campaign to Buy Bonds for Bombers was heartily endorsed.

"As this organization is anxious to do its part, will you place our name among those who will cooperate with you 100 per cent.

"The New Haven Railroad Employes Credit Union will slash its rate of interest on loans for the purpose of buying defense bonds.

25,000 ELIGIBLE IN PLAN

"Our plan will be a simple one. Upon approval of loan applications, the Bonds will immediately be placed in the hands of the employes, allowing them to repay the loan in small weekly deductions; $125 in Defense Bonds (matured value) can be bought out of the proceeds of a $100 loan. The loan will be entirely insured against death, without extra charge to the borrower.

"After only three years of operation our membership has grown to 5401 0out of approximately 25,000 employes on the system and our assets are in excess of $445,000.

"We feel that a pledge of the sale of $100,000 in Bonds through our plan is a conservative estimate, as everyone of the 25,000 employes is eligible to participate in our plan."

"SHARE IN AMERICA"

Under the plan Thomas F. Twomey, one of the credit union directors, purchased the first bond from Marcia Cashman, secretary of the organization.

The other directors include President Birge, Treasurer Cashman, Harold L. Johnson, Edward J. Lane, William E. Christie, Harry B. Hill, Perley E. Johnston and Freeland Rush.

The New Haven pledge followed

WOODWARD CHEATS CHAIR BY 5-4 VOTE

By the margin of one vote, the life of Raymond L. Woodward, youthful slayer of 15-year-old Constance Shipp of Reading, was spared today by the Governor's Council.

With the governor presiding, a fact which probably averted a deadlock, the council voted 5 to 4 to commute the 17-year-old murderer's sentence from death in the electric chair to life imprisonment.

Unexpected, and particularly vehement, was the opposition to the commutation, which had been recommended by the governor himself, Dist.-Atty. Robert W. Bradford of Middlesex County and Arthur T. Lyman, commomssioner of corrections.

TWO EXPLAIN VOTES

Voting for the commutation were: Lieut.-Gov. Horace T. Cahill and Councilors Frank A. Brooks of West Concord, Edmund Burke of Worcester, Raymond Wilkins of Winchester and Joseph P. Clark, Jr., of Fall River.

Voting against were John W. Cunningham of Boston, James A. Donovan of Lawrence, Clayton L. Havey of Boston and Daniel M. Walsh of Springfield.

Cunningham and Donovan issued statements in defense of their action, in which they described the crime as "heinous," and, in the words of Donovan, the "most dastardly crime it has yet been my experience to encounter."

ADMITTED GIRL'S MURDER

Said Cunningham:

"Raymond L. Woodward, Jr., committed this most heinous crime with extreme cruelty and

Men Enrolled in New Draft Will Get Numbers March 9

With another 300,000 men enrolled in the State's reservoir of manpower, draft broads throughout Massachusetts met today to check results in the latest and third selective service registration.

Although the wheels of government were turning steadily and speedily, Washington authorities still gave no official word on just what is to happen to the new registrants, drawn from the ranks of those 20 to 21 and 36 to 45.

Local officials seemed to think the new men would be placed at the bottom of the lists as selective service continued its big task of re-classifying thousands who had been declared unfit for service because of minor defects.

One thing was sure. Those registering in the new draft will be assigned numbers on March 9. The drawing will determine the order in which the new men will be sent questionnaires and be considered for military service.

The total registered in Massachusetts in three drafts is now more than 800,000, and more than 27,000,000 throughout the nation.

It was announced in Washington that the government plans an immediate inventory of the vocational skills and experience of men between 20 and 45 years of age who have not yet entered the armed services.

Selective service officials said questionnaires would be sent to all men previously registered, who have not been called, and to those registered yesterday and Sunday, to gather the information for the U. S. Employment Service.

As a result it was considered likely that some of these men will be drafted into defense production rather than into the armed forces.

While Lt.-Col. Ralph M. Smith, assistant state director of selective service, could give no definite figures on the Massachusetts registration, he said that Greater Boston would account for more than half of it.

Bad Teeth, Eyes No Bar Now to Army Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Thousands of draft registrants who have been kept out of the Army by bad teeth or weak eyes will be called into service under a new selective ruling.

Local boards were directed to reclassify men who had been deferred. The new standards require only that a soldier have enough teeth, false or natural, to eat Army food. The vision requirement was considerably relaxed.

Selective service officials also said questionnaires on vocational skills and experience would be sent to the 25,000,000 now registered but not in the Army. This information is being gathered for the United States employment service.

Meanwhile the local boards were correlating the information obtained in the week-end registration of some 9,000,000 men aged 20 and 21 and from 35 through 44.

MRS. GEORGES BARREL AND MRS. DAVID FORBES
At Checkup of Birth Control Petition Today

Open Check Of Names on Birth Plea

In response to protests by former Mayor Frederick W. Mansfield, counsel for Cardinal O'Connell, and other civic groups, the State Ballot Law Commission today began a check of an initiative petition to legalize birth control.

At the State House, 700 women who circulated the petition were given questionaires drawn up by the commission in an effort to check the legitimacy of signatures.

The petition, sponsored by the Massachusetts Mothers' Health Council, had 10 original signers, 40,000 subsequent signers and thereafter an additional 5000.

If opponents of the plan are able to show that one of the original 10 signers was illegal, or that 24,001 of the subsequent signatures were illegal, or 2501 of the additional signatures were improper, the petition will be thrown out.

The questions on the papers which the petition's circulators filled out today were intended to discover whether there had been a violation of the law, which provides that all persons signing the petition must do so in the presence of the circulator.

The mass poll was conducted under supervision of members of the ballot commission in Gardner Auditorium and in two other rooms at the State House.

If admitted, the petition provides that the question of whether physicians should be permitted to advise married women on the use of contraceptives be placed on the ballot for decision by the voters.

The move has been branded by Mansfield as "barnyard biology" designed more for "birth prevention" than "birth control" and a religious question not fit to be on the ballot.

Scalded Man 72 Hours Alone In Chelsea

After he had lain helpless and alone for 72 hours suffering from serious scalds, John Wiltzer, 55, of Ash st., Chelsea, was discovered by an unidentified woman who heard his feeble cries for help and forced her way into the man's tenement. At Chelsea Memorial Hospital his injuries were said to be first and second degree burns.

According to police, Wiltzer was burned Saturday when a kettle of boiling hot water spilled when he attempted to lift it from the stove.

Screaming with pain, Wiltzer, who lived alone, crawled to his bed and lay there feebly calling for help.

Although he lives in a three-family house, no one in the building heard his calls for help. His tenement is on the third floor and the second floor is vacant, police said.

The woman who discovered him was visiting in the building and heard the hoarse, feeble groans and shoved against the door to force the lock.

She called police and Sergt. James Martin and Patrolman Fred Carey rushed him to Chelsea hospital. She declined to give her name.

RECORD 32 BILLION WAR BILL GOES TO CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—A precedent-shattering $32,070,901,900 appropriations bill for arms, lend-lease aid, and construction of merchant ships at the rate of two a day went to Congress today with the message that "never in all history has a nation been faced with the war costs of the magnitude that confronts us.

In itself almost equal to the nation's outlay for World War, No. 1, the colossal new omnibus measure would boost the total of defense program expenditures laid down thus far for the fiscal years of 1941, 1942 and 1943 to the staggering sum of $142,000,000,000.

STRIKES, PROFITEERING

The House appropriations committee bluntly declared that:

"The United States had embarked upon the largest production of war materials ever undertaken by any nation."

It asked immediate action.

"Billions upon billions of dollars and the output of more than half of our factories will be geared to the manufacture of munitions, tanks, guns and other implements and articles for war use," said the committee.

Describing the munitions program as a race against time the committee said:

"Unquestionably practices have crept in of a most reprehensible character, despite the care and diligence of those having overall responsibility for the expenditure of funds.

"It is worse than unfortunate," it said, "that even a small number of men whose services are vitally useful in the prosecution of shipbuilding are not at work.

"These disputes wear us out fighting with each other while the production of war materials languishes and the chief beneficiary is the Axis enemy.

"It is not fair to the men who are fighting the battles of the country; it is not fair to the people of the nation, it is not fair to the vast body of loyal workers who are giving their best efforts in industry to produce everything that is needed for the war effort."

The bill would bring the total of war appropriations voted since Pearl Harbor to $606 for every man, woman and child in the United States. It would provide arms for an army of 3,600,000, including an air force of 1,000,000, by the end of this year.

BOOST TO 135 BILLION

The measure would boost the total voted for war to more than $80,000,000,000 since Dec. 7, and to $135,000,000,000 since the country began to gird for defense in July, 1940.

As sent up to Capitol Hill by the bureau of the budget, the new bill called for:

A—$22,888,901,900 for the War Department, including $13,352,200,000 designated for ordnance and $3,011,512,000 to expedite production. The deficiency appropriations committee inserted a clause to prevent diversion of more than half of that amount to the Allies in the form of lend-lease aid.

B—$3,352,000,000 for the Maritime Commission. Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, commission chairman, disclosed that the construction program contemplated 2877 ships with a 30,834,421 total tonnage and a total expenditure of $6,704,464,056, including the funds in the pending bill. He said that the 1942 schedules called for 786 vessels.

C—$5,430,000,000 for lend-lease purposes, boosting the total appropriations for that form of aid to more than $17,000,000,000. Largest single item in the new allotment was listed as food—$1,300,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Presses of the Government Printing Office and printshops throughout the country roued today with their biggest printing order—the preparation of 700,000,000 forms, cards and booklets for the rationing of sugar, to be in the hands of local rationing agencies by March 7.

4000 Wounded In Singpore

BATAVIA, Feb. 17 (AP)—Scores of sun-scorched RAF pilots and British Tommies from Singapore landed here safely today after attacks on their ship had left them clinging to bits of wreckage in the sea for 17 hours. They reported that 4000 wounded were in the Singapore military hospital when they left there, and that 20 English and Australian nurses had stayed behind to tend them.

The airmen and Tommies were burned and blistered by the tropic sun, but still had their "chins up" despite an ordeal which included repeated bombing attacks.

RAF Torpedoes Crash Into 3 Italian Warships

CAIRO, Feb. 17 (AP)—British naval aircraft have scored torpedo hits on two Italian cruisers and a destroyer in the central Mediterranean, it was announced officially today.

An RAF command communique said the British planes had attacked "a strong formation of the Italian fleet," and that their torpedoes had left one cruiser "well ablaze." One additional destroyer was listed as probably hit.

The attack took place last Sunday night, the RAF reported.

Over the Libyan battle front, fighter planes were said to have been active yesterday. Continued Axis air attacks on Malta were acknowledged to have caused "some damage."

The RAF listed four planes as missing, but said the crew of one bomber and a fighter pilot were safe.

materials since Pearl Harbor, adding:

"Production is going up, but not fast enough."

Concerning the part small New England shops can play in the war production effort, Knudsen said manufacture of small precision instruments and parts should be "duck soup" for them.

"During the past month," he said, "more orders were placed in the Boston area than during all of 1941."

Accompanying Knudsen is Col. Alfred B. Quinton, Army ordnance expert and assistant director of production.

The inspection tour today will include stops at Watertown arsenal, Waltham Watch Co. plant, A. S. Campbell Co. plant in Boston, and United Shoe Machinery plant, Beverly.

atrocity upon a young girl of excellent reputation. Of this there is no possibility of doubt. Woodward pleaded guilty to the charge of murder in the first degree . . ."

He pointed out that the conditions on which the sentence could legally be commuted were two: insanity and immaturity, and that experts had examined Woodward and found him sane, with an intelligence quotient of 98.

"I have then to consider," he wrote, "the case of a boy, 1 years of age, less three months, who plans to take care of a vacant house and grounds while the owner and his family are to be away on vacation . . who immediately finds two boys to put their hands in the mail slot and open the front door, who at once . . . craftily and cunningly entices a 15-year-old girl of excellent reputation inside the house; who then with depraved and fiendish brutality attacks this innocent girl, and mutilates her with a wrench, a club, the claw of a hammer, and a knife, striking the first blow on Tuesday morning, whereas death supervened only on Friday."

CITES GUILTY PLEA

Cunningham asserted he was unable to find "any grounds whatsoever" for clemency, or any extenuating or mitigating circumstances since Woodward pleaded guilty and that he therefore "cannot concur" in the commutation.

Donovan outlined the horror of the crime and declared he "would hate to be in the position that I would be partly responsible for" if the boy should escape from prison.

Found guilty of stealing one pound of sugar valued at 6 cents from a store, Joseph L. Broussard, sixty, of Massachusetts ave., Cambridge, was sentenced to 30 days in the House of Correction today by Judge Edward A. Counihan, in East Cambridge.

Broussard, a postal employe for more than 30 years, appealed and was held in $500 for superior court.

In passing sentence, Judge Counihan remarked:

"In these days when goods are being rationed it is a very serious offense—and why a man of his position should do a thing like this is beyond me."

Spalding Put On Superior Benn

Governor Saltonstall today nominated former Asst. U. S. Att. John V. Spalding of Newton as senior court justice to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Joseph A. Sheehan of Boston.

Spalding is a practising lawyer in Boston and since August has been a member of the Massachusetts judicial council.

He was born in Newton in 1897 and after graduation from Newton High School attended Harvard University, being graduated in 1920, following service in the first World War as a second lieutenant. He received his LL.B. from Harvard Law School in 1923.

He is married and has two children. The Spalding home is at 257 Dedham st., Newton Highlands.

NO TELEPHONING, PLEASE!

(except for Civilian Defense Authorities)

IF YOU are in Boston Tuesday night, February 17, do not telephone between 10 and 10:40 p. m.; this includes the period of the trial blackout (10 to 10:20 p. m.) and the twenty-minute period following it.

The air raid rules of the Massachusetts Committee of Public Safety and the Office of Civilian Defense say: "When an air raid warning comes, do not telephone."

Telephone lines are vital to air raid precautions. Civilian Defense plans are based on fast, complete, constant use of telephone facilities. In case of an actual raid, it will be absolutely necessary to have lines available for use by air raid wardens and to fire and police departments, hospitals, rescue and demolition squads. People should stay away from the telephone not only during an actual raid, BUT FOR SOME TIME AFTERWARDS

Blackouts are not the same as air raid warnings; they are just one way of trying to avoid raids or to make them less damaging. Actually, telephoning needs to be restricted only when the real air raid warning comes.

But to find out just how open telephone lines can be kept, we are asking you not to use your telephone between 10 and 10:40 Tuesday night, except for emergency calls.

The time given in this advertisement is for the Boston blackout only. The same policy of not telephoning is requested for other localities during the hours of their own blackouts.

Cambridge Man On Air Board

Alexander H. Bright of Cambridge, broker, pilot, and ski champion, was named by Gov. Saltonstall today to succeed Robert Love of Boston as a member of the Massachusetts Aeronautics Commission. Love has resigned to enter active service with the Army.

Bright has lived in Cambridge all his life. He attended Browne & Nichols School and is a graduate of Harvard, 1919. He has a private pilot's license and owns his own plane. He is unmarried and lives with his mother at 165 Brattle st., Cambridge.

The Governor also appointed:

Arthur R. Stagg, of Medfield, medical examiner, Norfolk County, 7th district, in place of Carl O. Nelson, term expired.

William P. Egan and Abraham Sloan, both of Lynn, trustees, independent industrial shoemaking school of Lynn, reappointments.

C. Harry Kuniholm, of Gardner, trustee, hospital cottages for children, reappointment.

Revere Man Denies Draft Bribe

Irving Kemler, 31-year-old proprietor of two Revere shoe stores, who allegedly offered a physician $500 to certify him as unfit for military service, pleaded not guilty today to an indictment charging bribery of a U. S. officer.

Arraigned before Judge Francis J. W. Ford in federal court, Kemler was given 10 days in which to file special pleas and was then allowed original bail of $5000.

When first arraigned before U. S. Commr. Edward Donovan, Kemler was described by his brother-in-law, Abraham Kaplan, who acted as his counsel, as loyal to his family and business and "not a coward; neither is he yellow."

A federal grand jury subsequently indicted Kemler.

According to Asst. U. S. Atty. Thomas P. O'Connor, Kemler, who lives in Thornton st., Revere, offered the $500 to Dr. H. L. Musgrave, examining physician of the Revere draft board.

If convicted, Kemler may be fined three times the amount of the alleged bribe or sentenced to three years in the penitentiary, or both.

Unable to Telegraph, He Passes Job Test

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17 (AP)—William H. Walker has the Los Angeles Civil Service Commission in a quandary. He passed an examination for radio telegraph operator—but can't send a dot nor a dash. He's forgotten the code.

Here's how he did it. Allowed 10 points for military service, he scored 75.48 on the written test (60 points possible) and training and experience (20 points possible.) He tripped up when confronted with the pratical test, sending and receiving. He hadn't operated a telegraph key for years.

ICKES WEIGHS CURB ON EAST GAS SALES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Secretary of Interior Ickes told a House committee today the oil industry had recommended immediate closing of all filling stations in the East from 7 p. m., to 7 a. m. week days and all day Sunday, and rationing of gasoline if this becomes necessary to offset fast dwindling stocks due to war loss and diversion of tanker ships.

The secretary, who is petroleum co-ordinator, did not say what action he contemplated on the industry suggestions, but did recommend the construction of an $80,000,000 pipe line system from Texas to the Philadelphia-New York area.

The petroleum industry, Ickes testified, recommended that "steps be taken to curtail the total east coast consumption of patroleum products to the extent of approximately 15 per cent from current levels during the period Feb. 15 to April 15." The industry report said it was "impossible at this time to predict whether or not curtailment will be necessary beyond that date when total consumption normally falls off substantially."

Ickes said the industry reported also "it would seem only fair that west coast consumption should be curtailed to about the same extent as may be decided upon for the east coast."

Although he did not define exactly the area which might be affected by any rationing system, it was assumed restrictive programs would cover the 17 States and the District of Columbia where curtailment was put into effect last summer and subseuently abandoned

If the industry proposals are adopted, approximately 100,000 filling stations and 10,000,000 automobile owners would be affected on the Atlantic seaboard.

CHURCHILL REFUSES TO DIVIDE POWERS, RAPS CRITICS

tested the gravity with which the government viewed the successful transit of the channel.

Air Marshal Sir Edgar Fainey Ludlow-Hewitt, who won the Royal Flying Cross in last war and was formerly chief of the bomber command, was picked to represent the RAF, and Vice-Admiral Hugh Binney, who was on the staff of the commander-in-chief of the grand fleet in 1918, the navy.

Mr. Churchill made this statement regarding the escape of the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau:

"I will deal first of all with the naval episode.

"In March last two German cruisers Scharnhorst and Gneisenau took refuge in Brest harbor where they were joined in May by the Prinz Eugen after destruction of the Bismarck.

"The position of these ships became a serious preoccupation for the admiralty.

"They lay on the flank of our convoy route to the East. They could make a sortie at any time on to Atlantic trade routes or into the Mediterranean. Accordingly the admiralty have pressed their continual attack from the air in hope of disabling them or preventing them from being repaired.

"This process continued for more than 10 months during which time the ships were undoubtedly hit several times and repair work made very difficult.

"No less than 4000 tons of bombs were dropped and 3299 bomber sorties were made upon them with the loss of 247 airforce personnel and 43 aircraft.

SAYS SHIPS HAD TO FLEE

"As we were never in a position to know when some or all of these ships might put to sea, the situation entailed almost continuous naval precautions in the hope of being ready at all times to meet various threats which these ships constituted.

"A further serious feature was the very grievous subtraction from the bombing efforts against Germany. Bombing of these ships was, however, so severe that the Germans evidently came to the decision that they could not maintain them any longer at Brest, and that they must return to Germany.

"However, this may be the Germans resolved to try to bring the ships back to Germany. This was a very hazardous operation. It could be done either by sailing around the British islands and returning via Norway or by a dash up the channel.

"The Germans rejected the plan of returning by the north route and preferred to run the admittedly serious risk of the channel passage.

"In the Atlantic ocean they would have to run the great risk of being picked up by our extensive air reconnaissance from the shore and from aircraft carriers, or being slowed down by torpedo attacks and brought to action against an overwhelming force as was the Bismarck.

CHANNEL FLIGHT SAFER

"The channel route, on the other hand, was a run of under 24 hours. Part of it could be made in darkness and they had the opportunity of choosing the weather which would be the most favorable the while way through the channel and along the Dutch coast. They had the advantage of a powerful umbrella.

"The dangers of passing through the Straits of Dover under suitable weather conditions were not great. Our slow convoys repeatedly have traversed the Straits of Dover and are repeatedly bombarded by German guns on the French shore. But this has not stopped our convoy traffic.

"One great danger was mines, but this they might hope to avoid by energetic sweeping. There remained, therefore, the action of our surface ships and aircraft.

"Air reconnaissance would show the Germans that there were no heavy ships or even cruisers in these waters, and, therefore, attacks by flotillas or destroyers and small torpedo boats were all that need be expected, apart from the air. Some people seem to think that heavy forces should have been stationed so as to be able to intercept them in the channel or North sea.

"Had we done so our ships would have been open to the same scale of air attack as were the Germans at Brest, and such dispositions would have dangerously weakened the protective measures which we have to take to safeguard our convoys on the northern passages and deal with the other heavy German ships, Tirpitz, Luetzow and Scheer.

SORRY NAZIS DIDN'T SINK

"The admiralty did not consider that an attempt to run up the channel would be an impossible operation under the conditions which prevailed, and this was certainly much less to be apprehended than that they should break out onto the trade routes or to the Mediterranean.

"Of course, everyone is very sorry that these ships were not sunk.

"The only questions which are open are: First, why was their movement not detected shortly after daylight, and, secondly, was contact and liaison between the coastal command and the admiralty and also between other RAF commands and the admiralty as close as it should have been.

"At the suggestion of the admiralty and the air ministry I have directed that an inquiry shall be held into these points. The inquiry will be secret and I doubt very much whether its results will be found suitable for publication.

"Although it may somewhat surprise the House and the public, I should like to state that in the opinion of the admiralty, with which I most cordially concur, the abandonment by the Germans of their position at Brest has been decidedly beneficial to our war situation.

"A threat to our convoy routes has been removed and the enemy has been driven to leave an advantageous position. The diversion of our air bombing effort, which though necessary was so wasteful, is over, and a heavier scale of atttack on Germany is now possible in which all the near misses will fall on German and not on French dwellings.

"Furthermore, both the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau have received damage in their passage which will keep them out of action for some time to come, and they will have to have gunnery and other practice.

"Whatever smart of disappointment or annoyance may remain in our breasts that the final forfeit was not exacted, there is no doubt that the naval position in the Atlantic, so far from being worsened, is definitely eased.

SINGAPORE A TRAGEDY

"I have also been asked whether I will make a statement about the fall of Singapore.

"This extremely grave event was not unexpected and its possibility was comprised within the scope of the argument which I submitted to the House on the occasion of the vote of confidence three weeks ago.

"The House has, of course, many opportunities of discussing this and other aspects of the war situation. I am sure it would be a great mistake for us to start to discuss it this afternoon in the short time available.

"I have no information to give to the House other than that contained in the public press nor would it be prudent to speculate in detail upon various evil consequences which may follow from the fall of Singapore.

"Moreover it would ill-become the dignity of the government and of the House and would render poor service to the alliance of which we are a part if we were dragged into recriminations at a time when our minds are oppressed with a sense of tragedy and with the sorrow of so lamentable a misfortune.

POSTPTNES SINGAPORE TALK

"Perhaps at a later date, when we are more fully informed and when carefully considered statements may be made, the House may wish for further debate on the situation in the Far East and on the prospect of its being retrieved by combined action of the Allied powers concerned.

"I should certainly not take part in any such discussion now. However, as some members may be otherwise inclined and as I did not wish to prevent them from expressing their opinion, I decided to move the adjournment as I have done.

"The government will listen to debate which takes place and I hope I may be permitted to remind the House of the extremely serious situation in which we stand, and the use which is made in hostile and even in Allied countries of any loose or intemperate language into which anyone may be drawn, and the importance of the Commons maintaining its reputation for firmness and courage in the face of adversity."

RATION RETREADS THURSDAY

Rationing of recapped and retreaded tires will start in Massachusetts Thursday, according to Thomas M. Joyce, State administrator, but they will be available only to certain types of trucks and buses.

A "B' classification was set up on paper, making certain other groups eligible for retreads, such as clergymen, some taxicab drivers, defense workers, salesmen and some public officials engaged in war work, but Joyce held out little hope for them, saying:

"It would be bad faith to give any hope to eligibles in this classification of securing tires."

Persons not eligible for certificates of necessity who now have tire carcasses in retreading plants must get them out of the plants before Thursday in order to obtain them without certificates.

After Thursday, Joyce said, those who have placed tires in shops for recapping may get them back if no rubber has been put on them in the process of recapping or treading by securing a certificate from the local ration board.

If, however, Joyce said, any new rubber has been put on the tires and they are reclaimed by Thursday, owners not eligible for certificates will be given a financial adjustment, but will lose their tires.

MAJ. ELIOT SAYS:

Pearl Harbor Factor In Fall of Singapore

By MAJ. GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT

Boston American War Analyst

The fall of Singapore is the worst defeat the Allied cause has sustained since Pearl Harbor, of which it was in part the consequence.

The defense of Singapore had been conceived by the British high command in terms of an Anglo-American command of the South China sea, either permanently held, or if temporarily lost, then quickly to be restored by the arrival at the Singapore base of the United States Pacific fleet.

When that fleet was crippled at the outset of the Pacific war, even though only temporarily, there was not time to take the measures and provide the forces for a land defense of Malaya.

Maj. G. F. Eliot

Nothing will now be gained by arguing and repining over what ought to have been done by way of precaution.

Singapore is gone, and the task before us is not to minimize in our thoughts the importance of the loss, but to minimize its consequences by swift and effective action.

LINES MENACED

The most immediately menacing of these possible consequences is the entry of the Japanese fleet into the Indian ocean, attacking vital allied supply routes in that ocean—all the supply routes of the Middle East, Egypt and Libya, the only line to China, and vitally important lines to Australia and to Russia via the Persian Gulf. A major allied disaster might well result from the cutting of these lines. Conceivably, it might mean the loss of Egypt and the Suez Canal; it might mean the lose of all the allied positions in the Middle East; this in turn might bring about the entry of the Germans into the Caucasus and the elimination of Russia as a serious military factor in the war.

The Japanese have not yet, however, reached the point where they can operate freely in the Indian Ocean. They cannot use the Strait of Malacca extensively until they have reduced Sumatra. Even then, the exit of the Strait of Malacca is commanded by Rangoon, as long as Britain holds Burma. The main entrance to the Indian Ocean, the Strait of Sunda, Japan cannot use freely until Java is reduced.

SEPARATE OPERATIONS

Thus for the immediate future we must first of all concentrate on the defense of Burma, Sumatra and Java. Of these three positions, Sumatra is by far the weakest because of its poor internal communications. It has already been invaded in the south, with the loss of Palambang. From South Sumatra, the Japanese will for the first time be able to bring shore-based fighters within striking distance of Java, and it will be noted that the Japanese have not attempted large-scale landings without fighter protection.

Separate Japanese operations for the reduction of North and Central Sumatra will probably be undertaken in due course; but shipping will be necessary, and the Japanese will be careful how they risk any quantity of shipping in the narrow Strait of Malacca if the scattered air bases on Sumatra are provided with any considerable striking force of planes.

Sumatra is, in effect, a delaying position for the Allies. Unfortunately, the Japanese are able to bring immediate pressure to bear on the two vital positions which must be held at all costs, Burma and Java, while the Allies still lack sufficient means (especially aircraft) to deal adequately with the situation thus presented to them.

MUST HANG ON GRIMLY

So considered, it would seem that the Allies can do little more than hang grimly to their defenses in these vital areas and wait the slow accretion of help from far away. But this is a narrow point of view. True, Java and Burma must be held and as much of Sumatra as we can hang on to, to say nothing of Timor and other eastern islands. This is only a part of the strategic picture. No war was ever won by taking the defensive permanently. The greater the scale of the Japanese effort in these various areas, the greater becomes the strain on their lines of communication with Japan, which is the supply base and the only available supply base for all they do. Japan is 2000 miles from Singapore.

The resources of India are moving toward the Burmese front. On all these fronts, the Japanese are going to have to fight hard, use more men, more material, more ships.

It is at the Japanese communications that the Allies can strike with telling effect, insofar as their power and their possession or acquisition of bases permits. It is in a combination of defensive strategy in Burma, Java and Sumatra and offensive strategy directed against the long and vulnerable Japanese communications and the scattered and weak outposts which defend them that the one remaining possibility lies of retrieving, at least in part, the disasters of Singapore and Pearl Harbor; that is, within theimmediate future. Much will depend on the volume of reinforcements arriving for the defense of the vital areas, probably much more on the boldness and even recklessness with which the lines of communication are assailed.

Blackout Test to Be Realistic

Instructed to look for "light leaks" in buildings and warn the owners whenever a streak of light shows through blackout curtains.

Listed among the many offenses is the striking of a match or even smoking a cigarette in the open.

ALL DETAILS READY

Meanwhile, John J. Walsh, director of the Boston public safety committee, declared that every last detail was in readiness for the test—to be heralded a series of sharp blasts from 15 air raid alarm sirens in various sections of the city from East Boston to Hyde Park.

John J. Walsh

The warning comes exactly at 10 o'clock and the signal that the test is over, scheduled for 20 minutes later, will be one steady unbroken blast over the same signal system.

Overhead, observation planes will roar. Gen. Daniel H. Needham, State Protection Division head, will study the success of the test from the air as will other officials and reporters.

Gov. Saltonstall, Mayor Tobin and other civilian defense heads will get their look at the blackout atop the new courthouse building.

LA GUARDIA HERE

There will be lights blazing from isolated defense plants, but these will be the only places not inked out in blackness. The War Department decreed that pushing production of vital implements of war was more important right now than a blackout test.

Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York and officials from a dozen other cities arrived here today to study the success of the Boston test.

There is one thing to be sure and remember. Anyone abroad on the streets during the blackout 20 minutes had better have a pretty good excuse.

Defenders are intent that no crime shall be committed and thousands of officers with long nightsticks may prove tough customers to convince.

MacARTHUR REPORTS JAPS SLAY WOMEN

By JOSEPH A. BORS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (INS)—With enemy activity ominously increasing, Gen. Douglas MacArthur today reported to the War Department that the Japanese had mercilessly attacked a defenseless Philippine refugee village, killing 18 women and five children and wounding 22 others. All were Filipinos.

The raid occurred on the village of Cabcaben and was conducted by Japanese bombers. It came as enemy aircraft and heavy batteries set the tempo for what was believed to be the curtain-raiser for an all-out assault against Gen. MacArthur and his Philippine defenders.

Even as MacArthur reported that the enemy was bringing up artillery reinforcements, heavy enemy batteries on the Cavite shore opened up again on American held harbor fortifications but damage and casualties were said to be small.

Significantly, the latest communique reported that "enemy air activity is increasing," indicating that the Japanese may have brought up reinforcements no longer needed in Malaya since the fall of Singapore.

Official U. S. Communique

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—The text of War Department communique number 110, based on reports received here up to 9:30 a. m., (E. W. T.) follows:

"1—Philippine theater:

"Heavy enemy artillery fire from the Cavite shore bombarded our harbor fortifications with increasing intensity during most of the day. Damage to our installations and casualties were not great.

"In Bataan the enemy is bringing up artillery reinforcements and there is increased artillery fire all along the front. Enemy air activity is increasing.

"For several days enemy airplanes have been dropping poorly printed leaflets on refugee camps behind our lines. These pamphlets, in English, Spanish and Tagalog, professed great friendship for the Filipinos and exhorted them to co-operate with the invaders and join the greater Asia co-prosperity sphere.

"Yesterday bombs were substituted for pamphlets. These potent messages of death fell on the refugee camp at the defenseless village of Cabcaben. Eighteen women and five children were killed in this attack, and 13 women and nine children were wounded.

"2—There is nothing to report from other areas."

NEW COURSE IN FIRST AID WORK TO BE GIVEN JUNIOR VICTORY ARMY

During the four years the Boston Junior Police Corps has been established, about 7500 boys have obtained junior first aid certificates, according to the records of Police Commissioner Joseph F. Timilty.

The importance of first aid knowledge is so great and there has been such a widespread demand for both theoretical and practical instruction that the Junior Victory Army will present an elementary first aid course to its recruits through the columns of this newspaper beginning next Monday.

The series of 14 lessons will include sketches and pictures and will prove interesting and valuable not only to Junior Army members but to all persons identified with civilian defense and adults in general.

The course is not a substitute for practical instruction but will be invaluable as a preparation for more advanced study and training under individual teachers.

The junior police corps consists of units of boys from 10 to 16 years old.

OTHER BOYS SAVED

There is a unit in each of the 15 police stations covering Boston residential districts. A patrolman-director has charge of each unit, with Deputy Superintendent William J. Carey as corps commander. Sergt. Francis G. Wilson is Carey's assistant.

The patrolmen-directors got instructors' certificates after studying under Red Cross staff supervision and now pass their knowledge on to the boys.

Older boys who have obtained the junior certificates are helping the directors and giving demonstrations before air raid wardens and other groups.

Records of the Junior Police show that knowledge of first aid has saved other boys from serious injuries and from the fatal effect of injuries.

In one case a boy fell on a picket fence and an artery in his leg was severed. Nearby was a member of the Junior Police. Acting on the instruction he had received in first aid he applied digital pressure at the correct spot and then provided a tourniquet.

The victim was then taken to a hospital, where the examining doctor declared the junior policeman's action had probably saved the boy's life.

PAPERS AS SPLINT

In another instance a girl pupil at St. Raphael's school fell in the school yard. Her arm, not quite healed from a previous break, was broken again below the elbow.

The school nurse was absent at lunch and the nun called for Frank Jurewich, a Junior Policeman of Hyde Park.

He got newspapers, bandages and a triangular piece of cloth. Lacking a wooden splint he used the newspapers as an extension splint. These were held in place by pieces of cloth and the arm was then put in a sling.

The girl was then taken to a hospital. It is believed the splint saved the little victim from a compound fracture.

William V. Bell, deputy precinct warden, Division 10, Precinct 10, Roxbury, in a letter to headquarters says he expects all his junior air wardens to join the Junior Victory Army. At his first meeting 16 boys gathered to sign up as junior air wardens.

At the next meeting in the cellar of a neighbor 37 were present. Bell says if the group becomes larger he'll have to hire a hall. The boys did yeoman service in a recent air raid test, he says.

closely a hearty endorsement of the BUY BOMBERS WITH BONDS campaign by the Massachusetts State CIO Industrial Union Council, which revealed that the council has set a goal for its membership to buy $25,000,000 worth of national defense bonds.

Accompanying the CIO Council endorsement was a personal purchase of a $500 bond by Joseph A. Salerno, president of the council, who said in a letter to the BUY-A-BOMBER EDITOR, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston:

"The purchase of bonds is the best share that we can buy in America. It is an investment in democracy. It is a bloodless contribution that labor makes on the home front. It buys the tools of victory. It protects democracy and the labor movement."

Meanwhile, Daniel J. Doherty, Massachusetts Defense Bond Administrator for the U. S. Treasury and former national commander of the American Legion, notified the BUY-A-BOMBER EDITOR that, as of Feb. 7, there were 907 Massachusetts firms, with total employes numbering 592,765, where the Payroll Allotment Plan was operative.

He estimated that the number of concerns co-operating would reach 1000 during the week.

PUBLIC EMPLOYES GO IN

Also he said that by virtue of the legislative enactment at the recent special session, state, county, city and town employes are now permitted to make allotments from their salaries or wages on each pay day, for the purchase of Defense Savings Bonds.

This enabling legislation is calculated to bring in 85,000 potential Payroll Allotment Plan participants.

You Can Specify Bonds Are for Bomber Drive

Individuals buying defense bonds may stipulate on the purchase application blank that their purchases are in connection with the Massachusetts Bombers' Campaign.

On the left-hand side of the green application blank, opposite where you write the name with which the bond is to be inscribed, notice the three words: "Buy for Defense." Immediately above this is a small space in which can be written "Massachusetts Bombers' Campaign." Write this only in the space described.

Individuals or firms buying either stamps or bonds in connection with the Massachusetts Bombers' drive are requested to notify these newspapers by WRITING to the BUY-A-BOMB EDITOR, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, so that the amount representing their investment may be listed.

It is specifically requested that individual purchases be reported in writing rather than by telephone.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real causes of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

REDS TO GET BILLION MORE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Official sources said today a new lend-lease credit of approximately $1,000,000,000 was being negotiated for Russia.

Last fall, Russia received a similar $1,000,000,000 credit.

Officials said this initial credit had been nearly all allocated, and a new credit was needed soon in order to plan further production of the weapons that Russia will need.

Although some of the materials promised under the first $1,000,000,000 credit have been delivered to the Russians, the exact status of these supplies is a military secret.

The new credit may take the form of a monetary loan of lend-lease money, a straight arrangement to lend-lease war materials to be repaid in kind, or a credit to be repaid in any resources the Russians may find available after the war.

U. S. Fliers Avenge Toll of 7 Tankers

also Lago Shipping Co., torpedoed off Aruba.

4—SAN NICOLAS, 2391 tons, also Lago Shipping Co., sailing under British flag, torpedoed twice and engine room blown up, 25 miles south of Punta Macolla, Venezuela.

5—TIA JUANA, 2395 tons, Lago Shipping Co., under British flag; torpedoed three times forward and set on fire immediately; attacked between Aruba and Venezuela.

6—RAFAELA, 3177-ton Shell Co. tanker, under Dutch flag; torpedoed off Aruba.

7—The Texaco tanker ARKANSAS, sailing without load; hit but not sunk.

The oil company executives said refineries in both Aruba and Curacao were shelled by submarines, but no damage or deaths ashore resulted.

Twenty-two survivors of the Tia Juana and the San Nicolas, picked up after seven hours on the water, were taken to a hospital, suffering mainly from shock. Each ship had a crew of 26 men.

(What happened to the crews of the Oranjestad, Pedernales, Rafaela and the Texaco tanker was not stated.)

The first six ships listed carried about 25,000 barrels of oil each.

The Maracaibo oil executives said that a Shell plane had warned 14 outgoing tankers to return to Maracaibo Lake, and oil shipments were held up indefinitely.

The Dutch command in Willemstad, on Curacao island, in the initial announcement of the raids, issued a communique which said that an enemy submarine attacked Aruba and torpedoed three tankers there and shelled the refinery without causing damage to the plant worth mentioning.

The Dutch reported that a tanker was torpedoed near Willemstad harbor and was brought into port in damaged condition with one man slightly wounded.

(This presumably was the Arkansas.)

DESCRIBES ATTACK

Lieut.-Gen. Andrews said the attack on the two tankers anchored outside Nicholas bay awakened him about 1:30 a. m., yesterday.

"A few shells aimed at the refinery went over us," he said.

The general said that another tanker of American registry was attacked but not sunk in an attack at 3:15 a. m., and no one was hurt.

First reports said three officers and 12 crewmen were missing among the 25 aboard one of the first two tankers attacked which exploded and sank. Two persons were reported killed, 18 sent to hospitals and seven missing from the other ship, which was wrecked.

An unexploded torpedo of German origin was found on the shore, the general added.

EYEWITNESS STORY

Capt. Robert Bruskin, one of the group accompanying Lieut.-Gen. Andrews, said the first explosion knocked him out of bed.

"I looked out of the windows," he said. "Flames were shooting straight up and seemed mountainous. The ship just seemed to break apart.

"Flaming oil spread out over a wide area under a steady wind . . . we all dashed outside. I could hear cries out in the water which I learned later was badly infested with barracuda.

"Several boats put out but the flames held them back.

"Some of the crewmen from the stricken vessel who jumped immediately after the attack managed to reach shore.

"About two we heard another explosion up the shore as an American tanker was torpedoed at her pier. A hole was blasted all the way through one bunker but it was empty and did not take fire."

SUB ATTACKS 700 MILES FROM CANAL—The lone enemy submarine which shelled the Dutch West Indies island of Aruba and torpedoed seven tankers slipped into the Caribbean through the outer screen of American and Allied bases protecting the Panama Canal. The sub is believed to have been sunk.

WEST INDIES' HIGH TEST GAS VITAL TO ALLIED AIR FORCES

By International News Service

The Netherlands West Indies, principal oil refining center in the southwest hemisphere, have been playing an increasingly vital role in the Allied war effort.

Situated at the crossroads of the Caribbean, the Indies comprise six islands split into two groups. The three most important islands, Aruba, Curacao and Bonaire, lie close to the northern coast of Venezuela, while further to the northeast lie St. Martin, Saba and St. Eustatius. The last-named island was the first territory in the world to recognize the United States in 1776.

Curacao, the chief island, owes its economic importance partly to the shallow waters of the Venezuelan coast, 50 miles away. Possessing no harbors deep enough to accommodate ocean-going tankers, Venezuela has to ship its crude oil to Curacao, whence, after refining, it is distributed throughout the world.

INDUSTRY GREW FAST

During the last 15 years this industry has developed so swiftly that the Curacao budget, rarely balanced without assistance from the mother country, began to show a surplus varying between $40,000 and $325,000.

In 1916 Royal Dutch Shell Oil Co. founded a large refinery on Curacao, and in 1925 the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey followed with a similar plant on Aruba.

While Venezuela ships some 80 per cent of its crude oil exclusively to Curacao, Aruba receives more than half the output of Colombia and some of the oil produced on the island of Trinidad. The Aruba production has by now surpassed that of Curacao proper.

Willemstad, Curacao's capital, posesses a magnificent natural harbor, modernly equipped with two dry docks. The island has four other natural harbors, disposing of large oil storage tanks. In Aruba, St. Nicholas Bay forms an excellent natural port for the larger ocean-going steamers. By 1938 Venezuela was shipping 157,000,000 barrels of crude oil and Colombia 9,000,000 valued at over $200,000,000 to these islands.

PRODUCES HIGH TEST

The high-test aviation oil produced by these refineries is of paramount imporiance for the United Nations air forces, and the Shell refineries now supply over one-third of the British Navy's oil.

Around the Curacao harbor the landscape is covered with thousands of oil tanks, strongly guarded by steel-helmeted soldiers and surrounded with huge barbed-wire barricades.

On May 10, 1940, the day Holland was invaded, the Curacao authorities swiftly imprisoned a number of enemy aliens and interned all German vessels and their crews. Their vigilance has continued.

"THOSE WERE the good old days," people often say . . . but the new play at the Plymouth Theater illustrates that the good old days were not so hot . . . and a great deal worse than the present with all our troubles . . .

The play, "Under This Roof," written by a Bostonian, concerns an old Boston family during the Civil War . . . yet all the talk of draft and graft, unity and battles lost, makes you think you are listening-to-present day conversations.

History does not, however, repeat itself exactly . . . The Grandmother in the play (Louise Galloway) drank her rum with sugar in it—which is something no patriotic Granny would do now-a-days . . .

Boston theater-goers have all too few occasions when they can shout "Author, author" so when a play by a Bostonian has its world premiere here the aurience makes the most of the opportunity to give the playwright a big hand . . . Author Herbert B. Ehrmann, a Harvard, '12 alumnus and Boston attorney, made a couple of curtain calls in acknowledgment of a tremendous ovation from friends, Harvard classmaes and fellow lawyers . . .Mrs. Ehrmann attended with a group of friends, wearing a gown of oyster white faille and a corsage of butterfly orchids on the lapel of her mink jacket . . .

SITTING WAY DOWN front were Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall with her daughter, Emily, and son Peter . . . The First Lady wore a lovely gown of black and turquoise under her mink coat and Emily accented her blonde hair with a gown of sheer black lace . . . Peter, having one of his last flings in civilian togs, was receiving congratulations on all sides on having joined up with the Marines yesterday . . .

Down from North Brookfield to applaud for their old friend, Louise Galloway, were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. LaCroix, who are staying at the Ritz . . . Mrs. LaCroix wore gardenias on her mink coat and a lovely cluster pearl necklace with a simple black dinner gown . . . After the show they joined Mr. Lindorff Bassett, husband of Miss Galloway, in a back stage sortie to meet the cast . . .

Mr. and Mrs. T. Michell Hastings brought along their dinner guests, Rev. and Mrs. Cornelius Trowbridge, the latter of whom wore a petunia crepe gown under a cosy gray squirrel jacket . . . Mrs. Hastings wore modish black with a fluffy platinum fox collar on her wrap . . .

MRS. TOMMY GANNET had a chance to see herself as others see her yesterday afternoon at the opening of an exhibition of paintings by socialite artist William J. Draper at the Grace Horne Galleries . . . Anne's portrait is included in the works of young Bill Draper and she was constantly asked to stand beside it so friends could admire the likeness . . .

Sharing honors with Bill was Richard Bassett of Boston and Northampton, whose landscapes of the Holyoke Range, tobacco fields along the road from Amherst to Northampton and other familiar scenes of college days were greatly admired by a number of Smith College gals among the guests . . .

Sipping tea and enjoying the pictures were Mrs. Charles A. Shea and her sister, Mrs. Richard Cotter . . . The former accented her blonde hair with a dubonnet suit, pink blouse and pink gloves, and Mrs. Cotter wore touches of gold with her modish brown outfit . . . Mrs. Harry Draper, sister-in-law of Artist Bill, wore a bright blue dress with a mink hat and coat . . . Mary Elizabeth Sears and Margaret Fitzhug Browne were both accompanied by their pet pups . . . Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Clark, Mrs. John Sargent, the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. George Shaw, Mrs. E. Sohier Welch and Mrs. George Draper.

DEBUTANTES CAROL WARIN of Pride's Crossing, left, and Lansdale Daley of Dedham wait their turn to tap out some tricky steps in daily rehearsals at The Somerset for the forthcoming Vincent Club show to be given March 12, 13 and 14. The Masked Jury

DOGS IN BEDROOM

SHOULD HUSBAND OBJECT?

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY: Here's one for your Masked Jurors to mull over, and if the answers are what I hope they're going to be I'm going to paste them right up on the bedroom wall where my wife can read them every night and morning.

I have been married for a year, but I didn't only marry a woman—I married a woman and two dogs. I knew that my wife always loved dogs but I didn't know I was going to have to eat with them. Personally, I can take dogs or leave 'em alone.

We started out with two pups and—wow!—how those pups grew. Pretty soon the dogs were making a pet out of me and chasing me off sofas. As it stands now, they own the house and I just board in it.

When they first started coming up in our bedroom every morning to wake us up I thought it was funny. Now they trample all over me. If I snore while sleeping the dogs growl at me, and my wife thinks it's cute. What does all this make me—a man or a mouse? All right, I'm a mouse, but every mouse has his problem and here's mine:

Do you think I have a right to demand that my wife get rid of the dogs?—MR. MOUSE

HOW THE JURY VOTED
Women: Yes, three; No, three Men: Yes, three; No, three

STAGE PRODUCER: No, unless unless that fellow who calls himself Mr. Mouse prefers to be known as Mr. Rat.

UNION ORGANIZER: No, it's not the dogs' fault. But he better do something about that wife before she takes up with horses.

ACCOUNTANT: Yes, I'll say you better demand it. Dogs are all right in their place, but that place is not in a bedroom.

ARTIST: No. It all depends on how much you like dogs. Personally, it wouldn't bother me.

DOORMAN: Yes. He sure gave himself a good name when he called himself a mouse. Too many of these married men are mice.

WINDOW DECORATOR: Yes. It's unhealthy to have them in the house.

SALESWOMAN: No. I don't think he has any right to get rid of the dogs, but I'm sure he has a right to keep them out of his room.

MILLINER: Yes. It's certainly a shame some women don't have children.

SCHOOL TEACHER: No. What he should do, instead of getting rid of the dogs, is to put a nice heavy collar on his wife.

HOUSEWIFE: Yes. She must be some housekeeper to let a couple dogs walk all around the beds.

MOVIE CASHIER: No. I can't get mad at anybody who likes dogs.

HOUSEWIFE: Yes. A lot of women make fools of themselves the way they treat pets. I wouldn't have a dog in my house.

OUR DAILY CITATION: To all the men at Portsmouth, Va., whose skill and patriotism combined to launch the U. S. S. Alabama, America's newest battleship, nine months ahead of schedule. These men remember Japan's treacherous attack on Pearl Harbor and they are answering it effectively.

AMERICAN naval disadvantage in the Pacific War is NOT a result of the action at Pearl Harbor, and is NOT a result of unforeseen or unheralded circumstances.

Patriotic and alarmed Americans have recognized, and protested against, impairment of the American Navy ever since the close of the first World War.

SENATOR JOHNSON
Warned American People
A Decade Ago

Many of them were significantly and singularly prophetic of the war which has now occurred, and of our perilous situation.

Nevertheless, it was the studied policy of the American Government for nearly a score of years to engage in and abide by treaties with other maritime powers — TREATIES WHICH DEPLETED THE AMERICAN NAVY, BUT WHICH WERE SECRETLY AND EVEN OPENLY VIOLATED BY THE OTHER NATIONS.

Senator Hiram Johnson of California delivered a Navy Day address in San Francisco more than ten years ago—on October 27, 1931, to be precise —in which the American people were informed and warned of this policy of impairment.

He recalled that after the World War, from which we emerged with the greatest Navy in our history and in fact the greatest Navy in the world, we agreed with Great Britain and Japan to the infamous "5-5-3" ratio of future naval strength.

"We fondly imagined then," said Senator Johnson, "because Great Britain and Japan agreed to it, that we were establishing a ratio in navies of five for Great Britain, five for ourselves and three for Japan.

"In order that this ratio might be obtained WE YIELDED OUR RIGHT TO NAVAL BASES AND FORTIFICATIONS IN THE PACIFIC.

"We DESTROYED the naval superiority we then had and WE SUNK IN THE OCEAN HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS OF DOLLARS OF THE TAXPAYERS' MONEY.

"Immediately thereafterwards, both the other nations parties to the contract feverishly began to build, and soon WE FOUND OURSELVES TRANSMUTED FROM A POSITION OF SUPERIORITY INTO ONE OF INFERIORITY."

This was the ruinous consequence of the so-called Treaty of Washington of 1922.

BUT AGAIN IN 1930, after the "5-5-3" ratio had proved to be a myth and the only naval disarmament accomplished had been AMERICAN disarmament, the United States became a party to the so-called London Treaty.

Here, Japan which had never observed the 5-5-3 ratio, appealed for and GOT abandonment of that restriction. And the United States supinely ratified the agreement.

In further pursuit of such insane policy, at the time Senator Johnson spoke in San Francisco in October, 1931, the American Government was advocating a five-year "Naval Holiday"—which the veteran Californian warned would provide "for the perpetuation of the naval inferiority of the United States."

The American people are being counselled in some official quarters not to concern themselves with past history, whatever its relation to our present problem.

But Patrick Henry once sagely said: "I have but one lamp by which my feet are guided, and that is the lamp of experience. I know no way of judging of the future but by the past."

Our American duty today is not so much to deplore the past, as to LEARN from it and REPAIR it, speedily and completely.

OUR FIRST BLACKOUT begins tonight at 10 o'clock and continues for 20 minutes. Darkness, as complete as ingenuity and long planning can make it, will envelop Boston.

This is a brief test of our precautionary activities and agencies—a kind of dress rehearsal for an event which everybody hopes will never come.

But it is important, none the less. If we have made mistakes; if our officials have bungled, if the protection our civilian population has a right to expect is inadequate, now is the time to get the FACTS—all of them.

It would be foolhardy and undoubtedly disastrous to wait until the hour of a possible but improbable enemy bombardment.

Wherefore, we offer this simple advice: DO YOUR DUTY; OBEY THE REGULATIONS, PUT OUT LIGHTS AND KEEP OFF STREETS.

If all Bostonians co-operate in this manner, accidents will be avoided and the city's air raid defenses will be immeasurably strengthened.

SHAKESPEARE also said: "Screw your courage in the sticking place and we'll not fail." Stated Barrie: "Courage is the thing. All goes if courage goes." And Ingersoll said: "The greatest test of courage on earth is to bear defeat without losing heart" . . . Torpedo-proof ships is what Australian inventor Franklin G. Barnes says he can make possible by a new invention of his. Barnes is the originator of the successful anti-mine device, so what he says must be listened to . . . Note a published recipe of a dish called paprika schnitzel. How about taking the "schnitzel" out of the name of this concoction and calling it paprika Carmen Miranda? Or paprika Lupe Velez? . . . Reported Countess Dorothy di Frasso burned her hands severely while striking a match. The countess probably didn't take heed of that warning which is on all book cover matches, namely: "Close cover before striking" . . . "Were there any American film actors killed in action in World War I?" asks a New Yorker. Rankin Drew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, was killed in action in France in 1918 while fighting with the AEF.

A CONTEMPORARY SAYS feminine artificial aids to beauty are easily spotted. He always knows when a woman is wearing false hair or has had it dyed. He's a better observer than I am. I once went around with a girl for six months and never knew she was wearing a wig. Maybe I was looking into her eyes too much . . . What happened to the "Mother" songs? Remember when among the popular songs there was always one which was a tribute to the mothers such as: "Ireland Must Be Heaven Because My Mother Came From There," "Mother Machree," "M-O-T-H-E-R Spells Mother," "I Want a Girl Like the Girl That Married Dear Old Dad," etc. . . . "The Woman of the Year," Katharine Hepburn's most recent picture, bears some resemblance to that success of the yesteryear, "The Famous Mrs. Fair," by James Forbes and in which Blanche Bates starred. Incidentally, when Blanche Bates and Miss Hepburn appeared on the stage in the same play, "The Lake," Katie suffered considerably by comparison.

PASSING BY: Harold Sweet. Former flier in the Far East. He says 1500 Allied bombers based in China could defeat Japan in 90 days . . . Fidel La Barba. Former boxing champion. Now a scenario writer. According to Mr. La Barba, the greatest lightweight of all time was Joe Gans. I agree with him . . . Joe Cook. The cleverest man ever to step on a vaudeville or musical comedy stage. Joe is a natural humorist and originator of his own material, a knife thrower, a rifle shooting expert, juggler, tight rope walker, dancer, singer and can play every instrument in the band . . . Kenny Baker. Named country's second most popular singer of popular songs in a recent poll. Bing Crosby was first as usual. Bing Crosby, Kenny Baker and Al Jolson are my favorite popular song singers. But I liked Russ Columbo as well as any of them.

"WAKE UP AMERICA!" is a good slogan. Another good one is that suggested by a New Yorker, who says: "Shake Up! America," meaning we should clean the incompetents out of the Washington setup and in other places where their lack of efficiency imperils the country's defense . . . Note some instructions to a brunette wife as how to furnish and decorate her house to match her hair and personality. How about her husband's personality? Or, more to the point, how about her husband's comfort? My idea would be to have twin houses joined by a long hall; one for the husband, one for the wife. Then each could decorate or furnish his part of the double house to suit himself and match his hair and personality, tastes and wishes as to comfort and utility.

SIDELIGHTS: "Can you name six sensational stage successes which the majority of New York critics gave adverse criticisms on the opening night?" asks a New Yorker. At the moment I can think of only two terrific hits that most of the critics panned: "Abie's Irish Rose" and "Hellzapoppin" . . . "I was interested in that unusually kind and clever husband who his wife says was born on Aug. 20," writes a Seattle matron, "because my husband, who is 100 per cent wonderful, was born on that same day." There's a tip for you, young woman. Look around for a man to marry who was born on Aug. 20.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: "A bachelor is more likely to die before 65 years of age than a married man," states a statistician. The statisticians are always bringing that "bachelors die young" thing up. Looks like propaganda for the feminine "We Wanna Get Married" clubs to me. I know a lot of very healthy and happy old bachelors. Marriage is fine for most men, but some men are much better off not married . . . My phone rang at 3:21 a. m. "Well, what is it now, McCarthy?" I asked wearily. "What do you mean by stating to the trusting subscribers that a man could drive an automobile from coast to coast in 61 hours?" snapped Clem. I took a deep breath and screamed back at him: "Listen, you insipid, inconsequential insomniac, 'Cannonball' Baker drove a car from Los Angeles to New York in 60 hours and 51 minutes in 1930."

BRIEFLY: There is such a thing as blueberry ice cream, but it seems it is sold only in the blueberry country of the State of Washington.

Eddie Cantor

Broadway's Voice

CANTOR IS DEVOTED HUSBAND

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—Love, as the poet says, makes the world go 'round—and it makes Broadway go 'round too, so if you are in a mood to think that last week's lace-edged Valentine or candy heart was a silly frippery with no place in this era of bombers and tanks and bad news think again. Because true love never did anything more destructive than break a heart on a spring evening, and it's nice—in the middle of winter and the middle of war—to have one's thoughts on prett,- verse and pink sentiment and cinnamon kisses.

How does Cupid do on Broadway? He does great. You might say it was his favorite haunt, because at heart he's a stage door Johnny.

LOOK AT BENNY FIELDS bringing his wife, Blossom Seeley, out to take a bow with him after all these years. That's love . . . Look at Eddie Cantor and his Ida and look back a little sadly at Al Jolson and his Ruby . . . Love is the great denominator. It brings two generations together, as in the case of Georgie Jessel and Lois Andrews! . . . It causes stars to quit the spotlight for a while, as in the case of Ethel Merman . . . This is the street that can be lit by its own torchlight, but it loves love, anyway. Why, it's love of the theater that has kept Broadway going. That and, I must admit, love of the dollar.

ETHEL MERMAN

LOVE IS EVERYWHERE in this town. It flows from the pen of a chorus girl at the Imperial Theater writing to her sweetheart at Fort Dix . . . It strains and slaves in the tenements and it laughs in luxury on Park ave. . . . On this island in the same night you see a Macy clerk kissing his girl good-night outside her apartment house on West 80th street and a top-hatted Croesus embracing his beautiful doll before sending her home in a cab to Flushing, Long Island . . . You see the sailors and their girls arm in arm on Broadway, and the soldiers and their girls cheek to cheek in the movie balconies.

CUPID IS FIRING ARROWS at Uncle Sam himself these days. Love is behind all the sacrifices that war uncovers. Just as it was Clark Gable climbing that mountain to get to her, so it was Carole Lombard ballyhooing for her country. It's every last performer getting out and giving all, visiting the camps, appearing at benefits, selling stamps. It's girls in uniform and girls in trousers and girls with white starched caps on their heads going off to far away countries.

* * *

THERE'S SENTIMENT everywhere you look in this town . . . Leon and Eddie's giving their pretty girl press agent a white fox coat . . . Sherman Billingsley beauing the girls with perfume and handbags every month of the year . . . Kate Smith's kindness in the hospitals . . . Eddy Duchin cancelling theater dates to get to the Army camps . . . Frances Faye giving the USO her royalties on "Hold Tight" to help the lads in khaki hold tight . . . Lucy Monroe torching for Frances Scott Key . . . And those animated love songs Walt Disney dishes out to an adoring populace—there's plenty of Cupid's handiwork there.

CUPID HAS TICKED OFF quite a few items recently in the big leagues. Shirley Temple's first date, Deanna Durbin getting married, Mickey Rooney waltzing down the aisle with a peach . . . Everyone falling for Lana Turner . . . And Artie Shaw falling for almost everyone . . . Rosalind Russell, the "bachelor girl," breaking down and saying, "I do" . . . Cupid Hauser teaches Garbo a trick or two . . . And love gets plenty of play on the stage. The delicious domestic bliss of the Days in "Life With Father" . . . Eddie Cantor's devotion to his silly filly in "Banjo Eyes" . . . The staunch, heroic love of the right which makes Paul Lukas' performance in "Watch on the Rhine" a masterpiece . . . Amour on the loose—the very loose—in "Let's Face It" . . . Adolescentiment in "Best Foot Forward" . . . "Claudia" and her David.

* * *

CUPID HAS HIS WAR to win, too; he can draw his recruits from the brokers at Fefe's Monte Carlo, the actresses downing their nightcaps at the Ruban Bleu, the debutantes munching their lunch at the Stork Club, the out-of-towners jitterbugging at the Diamond Horseshoe. As far as Cupid is concerned, the night club is his armed camp; there are his legion of followers, each enjoying a few hours with some one he cares for, and would fight for.

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

THE NEW MRS. AL JOLSON very probably will be Bunny Waters, the statuesque show-girl who recently polled some votes as one of "the ten most beautiful women in America". . . . Jolson's attentions have been stabilized on Miss Waters for six long months . . . Even when the New York columns were nominating him as No. 1 torch-carrier of Broadway and Hollywood (the former Mrs. Al Jolson, who was Ruby Keeler, being the hard-hearted lady-fair of the interlude), Al and Miss Waters were rendezvousing nightly at the Ritz Roof . . . That was last summer, when the Jolson musical, "Hold Onto Your Hats," was playing here.

VINTHROP RESIDENTS are vexed by watered gasoline, the source of which is somewhat of a mystery . . . Another, and more complete story on Pearl Harbor will be told soon—by public demand . . . And if you could listen to some of the wisest of the Washington reporters, you would take tonight's blackout seriously . . . Boston, furthermost American outpost in the Atlantic, must be concerned with the subject of control of the seas.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: It will be a great war to win . . . At the Copley-Plaza grill, this reporter sat a table with three Bostonians . . . One is probably the most popular and best-loved dealer in radio instruments and refrigerators the town's bright-light district knows . . . Joe Burke . . . Joe practically was put out of business by Washington edicts on refrigerators and radio sets . . . out of the business he has made such a success . . . In two days, it happened.

BUT HE WAS BUBBLING courageously about the future . . . We will sit in our homes and press a button for heat . . . We will drive in our cars and press a button which hooks us up, shortwave, with our homes . . . We will switch on the television gadget and see a World Series, a fight, or Notre Dame play Southern California, as if we were sitting on the 50-yard line . . . After the war, radio instruments for receiving programs will be relics of the "radio age" . . . (But don't fail to buy a radio set now if you haven't got a good one) . . . Homes will be air-conditioned as easily as we adjust a thermostat now for temperature . . . Most of these developments are here, ready for market.

IN A WAY, the war will make many manufacturers eventually better off . . . Whole businesses would not have been junked except for a crisis of the proportions of this one . . . But can you picture a vassal America, getting okays from Berlin to market something new?

AL JOLSON

He's Altar-Bound Again

. . . Another square-jawed gentleman, Joe Garaghey, was at the table . . . He is one of the biggest truckers in the section . . . Joe is taking the war in stride, facing a dismal problematical future with a big business.

JOE GEARY was the third . . . The hottest baseball fan in town, Joe has been sent to the showers commercially. He has been one of Boston's best auto salesmen . . . Were these lads whining? . . . No, they were talking about the marvelous opportunities a future of peace will hold . . . Were they snarling at some unoffending countrymen, murmuring hateful words which the object of their complaint couldn't hear? . . . No, they were figuring out how, individually or collectively, they could best help out in the crisis.

PAUL DEVER HAS MADE HIS LAST political race until the war is ended . . . The former attorney-general will be in uniform shortly, his friends say.

CHARLIE GOLDBERG, THE VETERAN song-publishers' contact man in Boston, passes along the tale of a bit of dialogue between an English soldier and a German prisoner . . . "What do you plan to do after the war is over?" the Britisher asked the Nazi . . . "I shall make a bicycle tour of the new Greater Germany," the Heinie replied. "And what," asked the English soldier, "will you do in the afternoon?"

PEARL BUCK PENS EXCITING NOVEL

By Louella O. Parsons

Pearl Buck

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 17—The hottest book in Hollywood today is "Dragon Seed," Pearl Buck's new novel. In less than two weeks more than 335,000 copies have been sold. I know I became so interested I read to the wee sma' hours and couldn't put the story down. Certainly it's Mrs. Buck's best book since "Good Earth"—and timely, since it shows what the Chinese suffered at the hands of the Japanese. "Good Earth" broke all records, and "Dragon Seed" seems likely to equal the sales. Bidding for the film rights is going on at a great rate and, at this writing, David O. Selznick and Paramount have the inside track.

MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN

Another of Mrs. Buck's stories, "China Sea," is being readied for production at RKO. No one in America knows China better than Mrs. Buck, who lived there so many years, and RKO is going to make it a big production.

GOOD THING Maureen O'Sullivan has a sense of humor. She never wanted to do the "Tarzan" roles at M-G-M, but once she started couldn't stop, for she and Johnny Weissmuller became extremely popular as a team. Now Maureen has left M-G-M and signed a two-picture deal with Sol Lesser for United Artists release. And guess what? One of her pictures will be "Tarzan." Remember, Sol had the rights to several of Edgar Rice Burrows' stories and there was a discussion at one time between him and M-G-M on "Tarzan."

RKO HAS BOUGHT Leo McCarey's contract from Howard Hughes and, if you ask me, Leo must be a Houdini to get out from under a Hughes contract. Howard, more than any other producer, has a habit of signing people and then letting them sit and sit and sit—refusing to lend them to other studios or give up their contracts. Look at Jane Russell and Jack Beautel. They'll be playing character roles before their next movie assignment unless Howard relents soon. Their one movie, "The Outlow," has never been released. However, to get back to Leo's RKO deal, he's bringing RKO two scripts—one for Cary Grant, which means Cary will have to bow out of Arnold Pressburger's "Tomorrow Never Comes."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Esther Muir and Sam Coslow, who staged one of the town's real battles at the time of their divorce, a cooing duet at the Florentine Gardens; Nancy Coleman and Richard Travis a Beverly Brown Derby dinner twosome; John Howard and Mary Brian are at the sizzling point at the Beverly tropics; Craig Stevens has been a flu victim and Alexis Smith has telephoned him every day; Jinx Falkenburg gets daily long distance calls from Bob Pabst of the beer family; Red Skelton has bought his wife Edna her first mink coat. Red thinks she deserves it for she gives him most of his ideas; Cesar Romero is up for a captain's commission in the State Guard; Glamorous Tamara Toumanova, Russian ballet queen, is being tested by Hal Wallis for "Casa Blanca"; Robert W. Service, whose "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" made history, is in town, and Frank Lloyd has offered him a role in "The Spoilers" at Universal.

That's all today. See you tomorrow! But Gracie Allen says: "Buy a bomber. Here's the theory. Help the Japs play hara-kiri." And that sounds like Gracie—it doesn't rhyme!

RADIO COMEDIENNE GRACIE ALLEN

Says "Help the Japs Play Hara-Kiri"

Beauty

A FAMOUS ACTRESS, on display in her leisure hours as well as in her public performances, must manage to keep her complexion always youthfully lovely . . . as does Michele Morgan, celebrated French star who is now in America with RKO-Radio pictures. Arline Gould today announces a new and exciting lotion which doubles as a grand make-up base and a softener and protector for your skin.

NEW LOTION PROTECTS SKIN UNDER MAKE-UP

By ARLINE GOULD

HERE'S NEWS that will warm the cockles of your heart, if you have been longing for a lotion that will really protect your skin under your make-up and at the same time give you a new lease on beauty.

For a long time now we have raved about a cream made by one of the leading beauty firms. Whenever winter ravages our poor skin so that nothing seems to restore it, we turn to this wonder-working cream and find it as good as ever.

This emollient is not inexpensive, but it is worth its weight in gold. You use it sparingly, in the daytime, and while you work and play it lubricates and softens, and also doubles as a foundation.

Well, now the manufacturers have put out a lotion with the same qualities. It's wonderful for women who have such sensitive skins that they may become irritated by the massage necessary in applying a cream, and it also feels lighter on the skin.

In the daytime, apply your make-up over it. No other powder base is necessary. It will keep you looking lovely all day, and helps to banish those ageing little lines caused by dryness.

For women who dislike retiring with emollient creams on their faces (or whose husbands expect them to stay young and beautiful without visible effort) it substitutes for a night cream.

Before retiring, cleanse your face well; follow with your favorite emollient cream, and leave it on 15 or 20 minutes. Remove the cream and smooth on this flower-fragrant lotion. The skin will be soft and fresh, but not greasy or sticky.

It comes in a distinctive black chromium capped bottle, companion to the black jar which holds its sister cream. It's expensive, but it lasts several months, and is really a good investment.

Arline Gould will tell you the name of this lotion and who carries it, if you call her at LIBerty 4000 week-days, except Saturday, or write her, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope, at the Boston Evening American.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

• FOOD •

By Martha Lee

WHETHER ONE OBSERVES the Lenten Season for religious reasons or as a matter of custom, the problem of how to prepare meals on fast days that have both balance and variety still remains. Fortunately, the homemaker can turn to canned foods with the assurance that they are in every way equal in nutritive value to the same foods prepared in any other way. Important in the list of canned foods we find canned shrimp.

Canned shrimp rich in food value, delicious and nutritious, are being used more each day, and in more widespread localities. They are an excellent source of proteins, vitamins and minerals. Being of a texture that is easily digested, they may be eaten safely by the youngest and the oldest members of the family, and are available at all times of the year.

Because of so many modern improvements in canning shrimp, their nutritive values are retained. Canned shrimp come to you as fresh as the moment they were caught and retain their delectable tang of the sea. Many hot and cold servings of canned shrimp may be easily prepared. Here are a few suggestions:

CREAMED SHRIMP AND MUSHROOMS

2 No. 1 cans shrimp
5 tbsp. butter
6 tbsp. flour
2 cups fresh mushrooms
Salt, pepper to taste
2 cups milk
1 cup cream
2 egg yolks

Melt the butter and blend in the flour. Add the milk and cream and cook until the sauce is thick and smooth. Wipe the mushrooms and chop coarsely. Cook them for about 5 minutes in 2 tablespoons melted butter. Add with the shrimp to the cream sauce and season with salt and pepper. Just before serving, add the slightly beaten egg yolks. Serve in patty shells. Makes 8 servings.

SHRIMP TOMATO SOUP

1 No. 1 can shrimp
2 tbsp. butter
2 tbsp. chopped onion
1 tbsp. chopped green pepper
½ cup diced carrot
½ cup diced celery
½ tsp. salt
1 bay leaf
1 No. 2½ can tomatoes
1 tbsp. flour
1 cup water
¾ tsp. curry powder
¼ tsp. dry mustard

Melt butter in a skillet and add onion, green pepper, carrot, celery, salt and bay leaf; cook 5 minutes, stirring often. Run tomatoes through a sieve and combine with the vegetable mixture; simmer for 10 minutes and remove the bay loaf. Mix the flour with ¼ cup cold water and add to the tomato mixture, stirring constantly. Add the remaining water, curry powder, mustard and liquid which has been drained from the shrimp. Break shrimp in pieces and combine with the soup mixture; allow to simmer a few minutes and serve.

Caliente Shrimp with hot rice and a salad of mixed greens for an informal luncheon during the Lenten season is just about the nicest thing you can serve.

CALIENTE SHRIMP

3 No. 1 cans shrimp
½ lb. butter
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup catsup
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. paprika
Sugar to taste

Heat shrimp and remove from can. Mix other ingredients and heat thoroughly to make a sauce. Serve sauce hot in individual bowls so that shrimps may be dipped as they are eaten. Garnish with lemon quarters. Makes about 6 servings.

SERVE Caliente Shrimp for the informal Lenten luncheon.

Fashion

ISN'T THIS FROCK like a breath of spring? Wonderful for a winter vacation, or for relief from dark winter things right now at home, this dress with its matching jacket is destined to do things for you. It is that blessing of fashions, the shirtwaister; well-tailored, slimming and universally becoming. It comes in pale, pretty shades and white, and its collarless jacket has embroidered pockets for a note of bright contrast. A Boston store has it, or will have soon . . . for it is hot off the designer's griddle . . . ANNICE BRINK.

PRINTED DRESS, ONE-COLOR COAT IS NEW ENSEMBLE

By BETTINA BEDWELL

EVERYWHERE I am told by fashion folk that the Spring ensemble which is slated for a big success is the one with a printed dress and a one-color coat. The coat, they say, can be worn with all the daytime dresses a woman has, and is being chosen in very good quality material.

Coats in warm and lively colors or those in light neutrals like beige, or in warm navy, are what are most wanted by women from 16 to 80.

And the printed dress is chosen to tie in with the coat color in part of the pattern.

Just now, printed dresses in most color schemes are on hand. Later, with chemical rationing, there may be many less, and so forehanded ladies are choosing these unrestricted patterns.

The butterfly pattern dress is a particular favorite in high class lines, and the one sketched comes in this pattern in red and white silk, with cut-out butterflies trimming the waist and skirt.

The streamlined coat is red wool, with a modest shawl collar and a one fancy-button closing. Insets of the material are placed from the shoulders to the bosom and on the front of the skirt.

The ensemble is from Villa Zigmund.

Must Fight Right on to Victory

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

National Woman Director of Civilian Defense

WASHINGTON, Monday—Saturday and Sunday in New York City, I visited the Brooklyn Naval Hospital. I had, by this time, sampled all the ways of getting there as rapidly as possible, but somehow there seems to be no very quick way when you are in a hurry.

I did a number of errands, saw a great many people and, among other things, looked at quite a number of apartments, because some day I expect my husband to tell me that the houses in New York are sold before I have found a place in which to move. I have now, however, fairly well made up my mind as to an available spot, so that one thing is off my mind.

There still remains the dividing up, packing and shipping of all the things in the houses, which my mother-in-law and my husband have owned for so many years. There are moments when I wish we had always lived like birds, made our own nests and needed no furnishings!

Saturday evening I took two people, whom I have long wanted to enjoy "Claudia," to see this play. There is real quality to it, for one can see it over and over again and still laugh, and still be moved by the serious lines. Always, the phrase, "making friends with pain," strikes me as something we should all remember. I have great admiration for the entire cast, which played the parts as freshly as when I first saw the play. The little, young wife, is very well cast and seems as natural to me as she did when I first saw her in this play.

I was distressed to learn that the author of "Claudia," Miss Rose Franken, and her husband, had lost the barn on their summer place by fire last Friday or Saturday. I know they feel about their farm just as the man did in the play.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON the news of Singapore's captiulation came to a great many people as a tremendous shock. I had talked with the President and he said resignedly that, of course, we had expected it, but I know a great many people did not.

Perhaps it is good for us to have to face disaster, because we have been so optimistic and almost arrogant in our expectation of constant success. Now we shall have to find within us the courage to meet defeat and fight right on to victory.

That means steadiness of purpose and of will, which is not one of our strong points. But, somehow, I think we shall harden physically and mentally as the days go by, take our difficulties cheerfully and win through smilingly.

I returned to Washington this morning and was delighted to find everything in the office of Civilian Defense moving ahead on schedule.

Piano Lessons Easy With New Charts

Admiring friends — listening to you play! That day would come sooner than you think if you taught yourself to play the piano with a keyboard chart!

With this simple chart it's a short step from your first fumbling note to reading music quickly. Pictured is the part of the piano keyboard you use most, and right with each key is printed the note that's written for it.

Simply place the chart behind the real keys and you can tell in a jiffy what key to play for each note.

You haven't many keys to learn—as you can easily see from looking at your chart. For the whole keyboard is just a repetition of the same 7 keys. Our diagram shows them to you, beginning with Middle C and continuing to the next C. The black keys are sharps or flats.

You can even launch right out with popular tunes—skipping the difficult accompaniments. Just play the melody line with your right hand while with the left you plan an accompaniment of simple chords.

Our 24-page instruction book, "A Short Cut to Piano Playing," gives the keyboard chart for learning to read music and the table of chords for simple accompaniments. Explains musical terms, time values and has six favorite tunes for practice. Book is 8½ by 12 inches, a standard music size.

Send 15c (plus one cent to cover cost of mailing) for our instruction book, "A Short Cut to Piano Playing," to Boston Evening American, Music Department, 232 West 18th st., New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address, and the name of instruction book.

Hub Federal Bank Pays Final Dividend

Payment of the seventh and final 4.94 per cent dividend to depositors of the Federal National Bank of Boston began today at the office of Frederick S. Dietrick, receiver, at 85 Devonshire st. The payment makes a total of 49.94 per cent received by depositors.

The 35,505 dividend checks totaling $1,078,290.12 will be delivered during the next six weeks to the depositors, who will be notified by mail when checks are ready, it was stated.

All depositors are requested to make application to the receiver's office in person or by mail without delay after receiving their notices, and since this is the final dividend, the receivers' certificates previously issued must be surrendered.

It is anticipated that notices will be mailed to all depositors during the next 10 days and any claimants who do not receive their notices by March 1 should apply for their checks either in person or in writing, to the office of the receiver during the month of March.

After April 1, all undelivered checks will be returned to the office of the Comptroller of the Currency, Washington, D. C., and depositors who have not obtained them by that time will be required to apply to Washington.

East Side Kids At Trans-Lux

The new double-feature bill on the Trans-Lux screen, starting tomorrow, will team "Mr. Wise Guy" and "Submarine Patrol."

The East Side Kids, unjustly committed to a reform school on a truck stealing conviction, are importantly featured in "Mr. Wise Guy," which also employs the talents of Ann Doran, Billy Gilbert and Guinn Williams.

Williams, playing a criminal believed by the police to have drowned while making his escape from Blackwell's Island, holds up and kills a drug store owner.

The brother of one of the East Side Kids is innocently involved when the killer commandeers his car.

The companion picture, "Submarine Patrol," features George Bancroft, Nancy Kelly, Richard Greene, Preston Foster and John Carradine.

ROBERT TAYLOR CO-STARS WITH LANA TURNER ON LOEW'S BILL THURSDAY

'Johnny Eager' Packs Action

Robert Taylor, who has appeared opposite practically every feminine star on the MGM lot, now makes his first co-starring appearance with Lana Turner in the studio's new screen drama, "Johnny Eager," opening Thursday on Loew's twin screens.

Miss Turner, who unravelled herself out of a "sweater girl" beginning with astonishing speed, comes to her new role direct from her success opposite Clark Gable in "Honky Tonk," and an earlier co-starring role with Spencer Tracy in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Also of interest in connection with "Johnny Eager" is the fact that it presents Taylor in his first characterization as a gangster, the story casting him as a shrewd boy who grew up on the wrong side of a big city and never learned the meaning of love and humanity until he became hopelessly enmeshed in a web of his own spinning.

Based on an original story by James Edward Grant, with the screen play by Grant and John Lee Mahin, the production was directed by Mervyn LeRoy.

Hal Roach's "Hay Foot," sequel to "Tanks a Million," is the co-feature. Story of Uncle Sam's draft Army, it has a cast headed by William Tracy, Joe Sawyer, Noah Beery, Jr., and Elyse Knox.

T 'N' T is the way they're streamlining the names of Metro's newest romantic team, Robert Taylor and Lana Turner, stars of the Mervyn LeRoy-directed screen drama, "Johnny Eager." It is to be seen on Loew's State and Orpheum screens, starting Thursday.

'Under This Roof' Premiere Is Gala Event at Plymouth

By PEGGY DOYLE

The pre-Broadway premiere of "Under This Roof" last night at the Plymouth Theater doubled as an impromptu reunion of playwright-attorney Herbert B. Ehrmann's Harvard class of 1912.

They made up a large and heartening (to the playwright) representation of Boston's legal fraternity, and gave a new and refreshing aspect to the first-night scene Customarily, only a Lunt, or a Hepburn gets the audience-response given last night's first professional offering by a native son.

The response, it must be reported, was more generous than discriminating and hardly to be repeated when and if producers Russell Lewis and Rita Hassan present this New England drama, circa 1846-73, before Broadway's case-hardened playgoers and assorted play-assassins.

For "Under This Roof" is not the profoundly stirring challenge to an America beset by international gangsters its well-intentioned creator had in mind.

"Under This Roof," the story of several generations of the Zebulon Warren family living on a farm outside of Harvard, Mass., was tried out at Westboro's Red Barn Theater a year ago last summer. It is concerned with the Civil War, and more immediately with the Abolitionist convictions of one Gibeon Warren and how they brought about his estrangement from his family.

Believing as he did, his fiancee, Cornelia, lacked the courage to accompany him on his self-appointed mission to spread freedom and equality for all. It was easier to marry his less idealistic brother.

Throughout the play there are parallels which go to show that history has a habit of repeating itself.

The son of the family is within the shadow of the draft but for $100 his father plans to buy him a substitute to go to the front, a once outmoded Civil War practice. But the boy's reaction is as instant and patriotic as was that of our own American youth after Pearl Harbor . . . He enlists.

This is no American "Cavalcade" . . . it isn't even a variation on the Hart-Kaufman stage spectacle, "The American Way," which at least was a vivid if static panorama of America. "Under This Roof," contrived by an earnest if not too-knowing craftsman, is an uninspired study of smug, self-satisfied New Englanders who never get outside of their Mount Wachusett farmhouse mentally.

Barbara O'Neil, Scarlet O'Hara's handsome, glowing parent in "Gone With the Wind" and the purposefully evil duchess of "All This and Heaven Too," strives nobly to give breadth to Cornelia, an incompletely conceived characterization. Broadway's excellent actor, Russell Hardie, plays the unrewarding Ezra as well as the script allows. Louise Galloway, allowed to live only through the first act, is one of those typical, tart oldsters. The best performance was John Draper's young David Warren.

U.S.-Nazi Firms' Pact On Rubber Probed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (INS)—Charges that synthetic rubber patents were held up by American firms in agreement with the German owners will be investigated by a sub-committee of the Senate defense investigating committee, Sen. Herring (D.) of Iowa declares.

Herring is chairman of the sub-committee which will begin its investigation of the critical rubber situation with a secret session today. Other members are Sens. Brewster (R.) of Maine, and Kilgore (D.) of West Virginia.

"We are going to look into charges that synthetic rubber patents have been held up by American firms in agreement with German owners of the patents," Herring said.

"Another charge is that when hte patents finally were released the price was put up so high as to make almost prohibitive the use of them in the manufacture of synthetic rubber in this country."

Brewster charged last weekend that the committee's investigations would "tear the lid off" the rubber situation, and Herring admitted the situation "appears pretty hot from some of the charges presented to the committee."

Witneses are expected to include Secretary of Commerce Jones, Asst. Atty.-Gen. Thurman Arnold, head of the Justice Department's anti-trust division, and representatives of the war production board

'42 Mardi Gras War Bond Rally

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 17 (AP)—Uncle Sam reigned as king of the Mardi Gras here today as the nearly century-old celebration, blacked out by the war, was turned into a defense bond rally climaxed by an Army-Navy relief ball.

Retail establishments, usually thousands of dollars richer from world-over tournists' spending, devoted their efforts and advertising to selling defense stamps and bonds.

Citizens, who annually had shelled out their dollars on the lavish Mardi Gras parades and glittering balls, did their parading to special booths set up all over the city and spent their money for the war effort.

The million dollar celebration recently was called off for the third time since its beginning back in 1857. The bond rally and relief ball tonight were scheduled as afterthoughts. Previously, the carnival had been cancelled by the war between the States and the first World War.

PRIZE PUPPY FOR FIREMEN

Because of the fine showing made by the five exhibition dogs of the Boston Fire Department at the Westchester Dog Show in New York last week, the department will be presented the first puppy of the best Dalmatian dog in the country, Fire Commr. William Arthur Reilly disclosed today.

WELLES HAILS LIBERTY PACT OF AMERICAS

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles said a recognition of American interdependence existed now "which renders full assurance that the liberties and the independence of the free peoples of the Americas will be maintained against all hazards and against all odds."

Criticizing persons who he said advocated United States interference in the domestic affairs of the other American republics, Welles, who was this country's representative at the recent Rio de Janeiro conference, said at a dinner of the Cuban Chamber of Commerce that application of such a policy would mark "the end of all friendship and understanding between the American peoples."

Bedrock upon which the new epoch of inter-American understanding was founded "is the recognition in fact, as well as in word, that every one of the 21 American republics is the sovereign equal of the others," he said.

"That implies," Welles asserted, "that interference by any one of them in the internal affairs of the others is inconceivable. Destroy or change that foundation and the inter-American federation which now exists will crash into ruins."

Pointing out that the Americas were joined in the fight against Hitler, that 37 nations and people in all were opposing the Axis, the Under Secretary of State said:

"Upon us, the people of the United States, are fixed the eyes of millions upon millions who have for long past been suffering the burden and heat of the battle. For many weary months they have been waging our fight for us.

"We shall not fail because the end for which we strive, and which we seek, is that goal which to all the Americas—from Tierra del Fuego to Hudson's Bay—implies the one supreme value in life—liberty."

Here's Way To Deal With Girl Spies

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Distributed by International News Service

THE ONLY SPY that got his needings was scalloped by a Broadway taxicab. I'm for taking off the radiator ornaments on taxicabs and putting on gun sights.

But we would have to teach the boys to tell friend from foe. When Winston Churchill was over here around 1936 he was lowbridged by a taxicab on Park ave. in the high rent district.

We have been softer than face powder when dealing with spies and saboteurs. We should take female spies and make them pin boys in a bowling alley. Then we should bowl with hand grenades.

Either that or make them run the taxicab gauntlet up Fifth ave. from Washington sq. to Central Park.

Challedon in Poor Form

WILLIAM L. BRANN'S Challedon will have to display much better form than he did at Hialeah Park yesterday if he is to be given serious consideration in the $50,000 Widener Cup race a week from Saturday. Ponty, a 12 to 1 shot, proved too much horse for Challedon under a top ride from Jockey Mehrtens over the one mile and a furlong distance.

It was expected that Challedon would look like his old self over the one mile and a furlong distance in view of the form he showed last week when racing at seven furlongs. Challedon showed well in the early part of the race, then fell back only to come on again at the finish.

Challedon was off form during 1941 and it is a serious question whether he will be able to stage a comeback this year. If he is to do so, he will have to show a vast improvement over what he has done in his two starts at Hialeah Park.

It has been a poor season for the so-called standout horses. Al Sabath's Alsab and Samuel Riddle's War Relic have also failed to impress. Each of these thoroughbreds have showed they need more racing.

I still consider Alsab the best Kentucky Derby bet. This great three-year-old is being taken along at easy stages with the Kentucky classic as his objective. It is apparent that Alsab will not be permitted to take a single racing chance between now and the Derby unless he is 100 per cent right.

On what Alsab displayed as a two-year-old it would be willy to say he will not reach his best form by Derby Day.

War Relic, now racing as a four-year-old, still possesses the remarkable ability that enabled him to win the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap and $25,000 Narragansett Special last season. War Relic has been brought up to the races carefully and it is likely he will soon be turned loose and that he will display the blazing speed, endurance and courage that made him such a favorite with racegoers last season.

Hialeah Park is approaching the climax of its winter racing season. Some of the highly touted thoroughbreds who have not looked so impressive to date may be expected to do better during the latter stages of the meeting.

Hubert Hood Wins

Hubert Hood, CYO champion from Chicago who won in the heavyweight class of the All-America tournament at the Garden, also took the Chicago Golden Glove title. He will now move into the Golden Glove finals and in this writer's opinion he should win. Hood, according to Paddy Kane, manager of the CYO boxers, is the best looking amateur to come to the front since Joe Louis first attracted attention.

The Chicago Tribune commented as follows on Hood's win in the Golden Glove show:

"Chicago has a heavyweight who can hit, too. He's Hubert Hood. This boy was up against a big and rugged opponent in Emerick Mitchell, but he landed his punches so effectively that the bout was stopped."

Harold Dade, CYO star in the 118 pound class who looked so impressive in the All-America show, won in his division as did Al Notto, 112 pounds, and Harry Stevens, 160 pounds, who gained fame during the All-America tournament here.

The success of the CYO boxers in the Golden Glove tournament was proof of the high caliber of the team that competed here.

Racing Heads Meet

Members of the various New England racing commissions as well as leading officials were to sit in with Chairman Charles F. Connors and Commissioners Elmer Nelson and Harry Allen of the Massachusetts Racing Commission today in an effort to secure uniform rules and improvements for the conduct of the turf sport.

Members of the Massachusetts commission feel that an exchange of ideas on racing will be a benefit to the game everywhere.

Racing statistics show that racing has been much more formful in New England than in most sections of the country. This is particularly true as far as Florida is concerned. The racing at Hialeah Park this season has not compared with that conducted last year at Suffolk Downs, Narragansett Park and at Rockingham Park.

IT'S SPRING—It may be snowing, sleeting or raining in the North, but spring is just around the corner. The Giants began training at Miami, and here's a group of the boys as they listened to sage advice of Manager Mel Ott. Left to right, standing, Ott, John Hubbell and Rube Fisher. Seated, Harry Danning, Hal Shumacher, Cliff Melton (partly hidden), Carl Hubbell, Adolpho Luque, coach, and in foreground, John Wittig.

Terry Keeps Eye on Ott

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 17 (AP)—Bill Terry watched his successor, Mel Ott, put the New York Giants through their first baseball workout here, then declared "we've got a chance to win."

It was the first time since 1915 that Terry, dressed in street clothing, had been on the sidelines while his team was starting spring practice. He was promoted this year to general manager in charge of the Giant farm system after serving as player and manager.

"It feels all right to get out of uniform," he commented, adding, "the team is definitely improved. We've got a chance to win, if we start clicking. We have some players who can hit, and the team ought to make a lot of runs.

"This kind of power can make the pitchers look good."

Ott, the former boy wonder picked to fill the job once held by John McGraw, sweated out on the diamond along with nine other players who reached here in time for the drill—the first to be held by any of the 12 major league teams training in Florida.

Ott said he had hopes that a couple of the young rookie pitchers on the squad would develop into regulars, adding somewhat wistfully:

"We could use another catcher and about two pitchers."

KRAUTS BATTLE BRUINS TONIGHT

By BILL GRIMES

The fast-fading Boston Bruins arrived in Ottawa for a benefit game today which has no bearing in the National Hockey League standings—and perhaps it's a lucky thing for the Bruins.

Our pets and Stanley Cup champs of yesteryear tangle with the Royal Canadian Air Force team and they'll have to do somewhat better than they did Sunday night in Chicago to win.

For firing away at little Frankie Brimsek will be the most famous forward line in hockey—the Kraut line of Milt Schmidt, Bobby Bauer and Woody Dumart, who now are fledglings of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Just who else will team up with the famous Krauts hasn't been decided yet but at the rate the Bruins are going the Canadians can dig up a few of minor league ability and, teamed up with that great forward scoring wall, ought to give the Boston champs a real run.

NEW YORK NEXT STOP

Just how much the Krauts meant to the Bruins was seen at Chicago where Sambo LoPresti, Blackhawk goaler, blanked them in a decision carried off by the Westerners, 2 to 0. The Krauts were dynamite when goals were needed and the Bruins are just another hockey team without them.

After this the Bruins will head into New York where, on Thursday, they resume their stretch rush with a contest versus the troublesome Americans. The A's rocked their neighboring Rangers Sunday night, 5-1, and apparently Manager Red Dutton has his early-season popovers in a furious rush to clinch a play-off spot.

A month ago this A's vs. B's battle would have been labelled a practice whirl for the Bruins. Now it looms as one of the "turning point" contests of the season. By winning, the B's can remain on practically even terms with the Rangers, who come here next Tuesday night when local National League hockey, "blacked out" last night by the Ice Follies, is resumed at the Depot.

The Rangers battle Les Canadiens tonight in the lone scheduled game. Canadiens, like Les Americans and Les Red Wings, are playing desperately to make the showdowns and the Rangers have no soft touch.

HAMILL AVENGES TRADE

The Broadway Blueshirts are fortunate, at that, to be leading the circuit. They can send a note of thanks to LoPresti and Red Hamill of the Hawks. LoPresti has turned back the Bruins twice running, the first time despite a nasty cut over the eye which required six stitches.

LoPresti is not rated as polished a goalie as Brimsek or Frankie Broda of the Leafs but he is the world's most accomplished twine-tender when facing the Bruins. This may be because Brimsek, a neighbor from Eveleth, Minnesota, is in the citadel down at the other end and LoPresti feels he must be better than usual in order to retain a high school standing with the folk in Eveleth.

Circus Boxer to Meet McAvoy In Britain's Biggest War Bout

LONDON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Great Britain's biggest boxing show of the war is slated for next Monday night with young Freddie Mills opposing Jock McAvoy for the right to be the next opponent of British light heavyweight champion Len Harvey.

For Mills, 22-year-old Bournemouth boxer who picked up most of his experience in a circus, it will be the most important bout of his career. The tussle gives McAvoy the chance of regaining some of the prestige he lost 18 months ago when Harvey took his title.

Harvey now is in technical retirement, his duties as physical instructor for the Royal Air Force keeping him too busy for ring engagements.

The average British fight fan considers Mills the coming heavyweight champion of Great Britain and some of the more enthusiastic say he is the probable successor of Joe Louis as the world titleholder.

He started boxing at 15 as the "House Man" with a circus, challenging all comers.

Westerly's Perfect Hoop Mark Wrecked By Draft Board

WESTERLY, R. I., Feb. 17 (AP)—The draft today cost Westerly High School's basketball team, undefeated in 16 games, its perfect record.

Seigal Ralls, Westerly's ace athlete and the Rhode Island interscholastic conference's leading scorer, registered for the draft as a 20-year-old. The conference has rule that players are ineligible after their 20th birthday.

Westerly School officials, in notifying the conference it was forfeiting all games, explained that Ralls had innocently given his birth date as Oct. 21, 1922, but had only recently discovered Oct. 21, 1921, was the correct date.

Dodgers to Play Camp Wheeler Nine

CAMP WHEELER, Ga., Feb. 17 (AP)—"Dem Bums" will invade Camp Wheeler on April 3 and it's all right with Brig.-Gen. A. R. Emery, camp commander.

Gen. Emery has approved a contest between the Brooklyn Dodgers and a Camp Wheeler nine whose potential lineup includes soldiers Cecil Travis, former Washington fence buster; ex-Pitcher John Haley, sold to Pittsburgh last year by the Yankees; and Claude Corbett, one of the best shortstops in the International League last season.

Roberts to Train Sullivan Stable

(By the Associated Press)

Quiet Joe Roberts of Texas will be in charge of one of the largest stables at Narragansett Park when the spring meeting swings into action there on April 11.

Roberts will be guiding the 31 horses in the stable of John L. Sullivan, relative of the former heavyweight champion of the same name.

Sullivan, who made a fortune out of oil, is a recent convert to the sport of kings. First he purchased a few horses to see if he liked racing. Discovering that he did, the oilman went the whole way.

Espero, Liberty Cap, Transfigure, Air Master, Bien Asado, Texon Boy and Hygrohour are some of the horses Sullivan expects to have running at the Rhode Island park. Transfigure is the sprinting champion of the Fair Grounds meeting at New Orleans.

Warren Mehrtens loses his apprentice allowance next Monday and his transfer to the jockey class will leave the field wide open for Willie Day in the scrap for riding supremacy of the young division.

At the close of Tuesday's racing at Hialeah Park, Mehrtens had ridden 22 winners, with Day second with 19. Mehrtens' achievement equals that of Basil James, who is the leading veteran.

When the youngster becomes a full-fledged rider he cannot take his apprentice score with him. However, should he top both the apprentice and veteran ranks in the point of winners, he will probably come in for special consideration when the Miami Jockey Club distributes the prizes.

Julius A. Reeder has concluded his visit to Hialeah Park, where he conferred with Jack Campbell, racing secretary for the five New York tracks. Reeder, who succeeds Francis Dunne as assistant to Campbell, left for Hot Springs, where he is the steward at the Oaklawn meeting.

If and when Alfred G. Vanderbilt, the smart and rich young turfman enters the Army, both Belmont and Pimlico will be hunting for new presidents.

Warren Mehrtens' 22d winner at Hialeah was Frances D. Scully's Ponty, in the Southern Cross Purse yesterday. Although W. L. Brann's Challedan was the 13-to-20 choice when the horses went to the post, Mehrtens brought his mount home first by six lengths in the mile-and-a furlong test.

Ponty, with a reputation for being a giant killer? hit the finish in 1:50 4-5 and returned $25.20 for $2. Last season Ponty whipped Whirlaway in one race and in another beat both Foxbrough and Market Wise.

Challedon, suffering his second straight defeat, hiked his earning total to $322,735 when the camera ruled that the Maryland-bred horse was second and the Wheatley Stable's Choppy Sea was third.

PLAN TO BOOST TAX ON HORSE RACE WIRES

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 17 (INS)—Taxes on the pari-mutuel system at the horse racing tracks and a boost in telephone and telegraph taxes were recommended today by a special legislative commission.

The commission sought ways of raising $2,750,000 in order to lift three quarters of the relief burden on cities and towns.

Under the plan, the horse tracks would pay a tax to yield a revenue of $250,000. Among other recommendations of the commission were:

1—Boost telephone and telegraph taxes from 3 to 6 per cent.

2—Establish a gift tax of 7 per cent on $1,000,000.

3—Raise the revenue received from electric utilities from one and a half per cent to two per cent.

Hitherto the various communities undertook the financial responsibility for needy, and for some time town officials have been asking the state to take over.

State House observers said all of the recommendations most likely will be adopted without "much opposition."

ALSAB'S FLOP BIG QUESTION

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 17 (AP)—The big question in Florida today is what has happened to the horse which was called another Man O' War. Alsab has paraded to the post twice and in both races he has not been close to the leaders.

As a result, many turf experts are calling him "just another busted phenom."

Alsab came to Miami for a winter campaign to knock over some easy prey and get ready for the Kentucky Derby. All during the late fall, he lived the life of Riley, taking things easy until the first of January, when he was put into training.

CHANGED IN WORKOUTS

According to the clockers' brigade, the colt was hurried in his preparation to stage his 1942 debut. From slow gallops, he was forced to rapid strides. He reached his top form three weeks ago when he stepped a mile in 1:38 3-5. It may have been that he left his race there, because he hasn't done much since that memorable workout.

During the winter, stop-watch prices in this neighborhood have gone up tremendously because all hands have a "clock" when Alsab comes out. Even the colt's exercise boy carries a time-piece. Fast workout time is wanted and Alsab obliges with these early-morning thrills. But with colors up, he refuses to run.

UNNECESSARY NOW

On his last year's performance, Alsab had the trainers of other good colts and Derby eligibles worried. They were not sure just how good a horse he might become during the winter. They watched his efforts with marked admiration, but after Alsab's two bad races they do not fear him any more.

Evidence of the close watch these trainers have kept on the son of Good Goods in his recent efforts came in a line received from Ben Jones out in Santa Anita. The trainer of Whirlaway stated that he was taking no chances with Alsab, would nominate five horses for the Derby and might have each of the five run a very fast quarter mile in the race, with the intent to kill off all opposition. This could be a fine piece of strategy, but it doesn't seem necessary any more.

Hextall Retains Scoring Lead

Bryan Hextall, scrappy right winger of the New York Rangers, started his ninth week at the top of the National Hockey League's individual scoring race today, according to the Associated Press.

His total of 45 scoring points, 21 goals and 24 assists, was four more than he had a week ago.

League statistics showed Hextall's linemates, Phil Watson and Lynn Patrick, in second and third places, respectively, with 43 and 41 points. Their positions last week were reversed. Patrick topped everyone in goals with 23 and Watson had the most assists, 30.

Before quitting hockey to enter the Canadian airforce Boston's famous Kitchener kids—Milt Schmidt, Bobby Bauer and Porky Dumart—picked up 12 points between them in one game to keep Schmidt and Bauer among the 10 leading scorers.

Pat Egan of Brooklyn continued unchallenged at the top of the penalty bracket with 76 minutes spent in the box.

PLAN TO MOVE REFEREE OFF BASKETBALL COURT

That idea of putting basketball officials up by the backboards may not solve the problem of getting them off the court, but a lot of coaches seem to think it's worth a try, according to the Associated Press. In recent experiments at Denver and Chattanooga, Tenn., opinions of the referees and players were divided. It is to be tried again in Detroit's Olympia Arena next Saturday for the Alma-Michigan Normal game but the refs will be on the floor for the Detroit-Wayne contest on the same card . . . The American High School Bowling Ass'n plans to send the two top teams in its telegraphic tournament to the A. B. CAMILLI GETS $5000 BOOST; DAVIS SIGNS NEW CONTRACT

BROOKLYN, Feb. 17 (AP)—Dolph Camilli, the swarthy slugger who led the Brooklyn Dodgers to a National League pennant last year, signed his 1942 contract for a probable $20,000 at hotel-room conference with President L. S. MacPhail.

Their agreement, which was followed in a little while by the signing of Pitcher Curt Davis, ended what might have been the most formidable holdout struggle in the senior circuit.

Camilli has been a rugged individualist in his salary aims often in the past and his feat in leading the league with 34 homers and 120 runs batted in last year, as well as his selection as the most valuable player, gave him some talking points this time.

"Camilli had a good year and was entitled to a reasonable raise," the Dodgers' boss said in announcing the signing. "When we got together he told me what he thought he ought to get and I told him what I thought he ought to have.

"There was not very much difference and it didn't take very long for us to iron that out."

Camilli was understood to have received $15,000 last year and before his arrival here from his California ranch persons close to the club had indicated MacPhail was willing to yield to a $20,000 demand.

'Dizzy' Denies Comeback Plan

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 17 (AP)—"Dizzy" Dean said today he had "given up any come-back notions."

The ex-National League pitcher said he did not come to Hot Springs to have his pitching arm worked on.

And then he added:

"If I did happen to pitch again it would be for the Chicago Cubs. I have a standing offer to come back there any time."

Dean said he intended to go back to his sports announcing job in St. Louis in April.

Hassett's Brother Too Much for B. U. 5

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—Barney Hassett, kid brother of Buddy Hassett, the Yankees' new first baseman, scored nine baskets to lead Manhattan to a 56-43 triumph over the Boston University basketball team.

Hassett was prominent in a 10-point Manhattan spurt in the first half which erased Boston's 15-14 lead and helped hoist the Jaspers to a 28-20 half-time edge.

Tech-Terrier Twin Bill Aids Hoop Jubilee

Boston University will do its share in the Basketball Golden Jubilee fund by turning over the receipts of tonight's double-header with M. I. T. at the B. U. gym for this memorial cause.

In addition to the varsity games the freshmen teams will also meet, starting at 6:30 p. m. This early start will permit the varsity game to get under way by 8 o'clock and over before 9:30, to comply with the blackout scheduled for tonight.

In the varsity game, B. U. will rule a heavy favorite but the Terriers may have it far from easy. They played Manhattan in New York last night and did not leave for home until today. There is a good chance that the Terriers will be a tired ball club and if that is the case, the Engineers can come through with an upset.

The home club, however, seems to have too much power. This is particularly true in the back court where Charlie Thomas and Howie Mitchell make one of the first guard combinations in New England. Bill Madden who fills in at center guard is a pretty capable reserve in case either of the regulars go out.

These defensive standouts together with sharp shooting Captain Jim Cassidy and Joe Silver give Boston University a well rounded attack.

Right Defense Weak Spot in Olympics' Reorganization

A road-weary band of Boston Olympics rolled into Boston last night after a most disastrous jaunt around the loop.

Hago Harrington will drill his men at the Boston Arena this week with an eye to next week-end, when the Olympics play in Washington on Friday evening and Baltimore on Sunday night. The Bostonians get back on Garden ice next Monday evening, when they tangle with the Atlantic City Sea Gulls.

The locals will be much nearer full strength for the coming contests. Ray Chaleson, Ty Andersen, Dannie Sullivan and Will Hagblom, all of whom missed some part of the last trip, will be back in the lineup. Unquestionably several changes will be made in the forward walls.

A couple of the Junior Olympics showed real ability on the recent jaunt. Ray McCarthy of Waltham, and Frankie Ray of Belmont both played fine hockey. These two may be expected to continue with the senior sextet.

According to Ty Andersen, who returned to Boston last Saturday, the majority of the Juniors were not in condition to play against Eastern League players.

Just what Coach Harrington will do with his defense no one can say at this time. Certainly Ty Andersen's return will do much to steady the blue line squad. Al Baranowski will be available. Eddie Barry took over the spot left vacant by Andersen, but he may return to the wing. Ray McCarthy, erstwhile Junpics, can be used.

'34 ROMANO LOST TO HARVARD HOOP TEAM

Hopes of the Harvard basketball team for victory against Cornell tomorrow night dropped with the news that Joe Romano, veteran senior forward, will be lost for the rest of the season as a result of a collision with Stub Pearson of Dartmouth Jan. 10.

Romano's knee collapsed in the Columbia game due to torn internal and external ligaments.

Coach Earl Brown plans to start Ed Buckley and "Chick" Lutz at forwards, Burditt at center, Capt. Chris Finegan at one guard and either Don Lutze or Ed Rothschild at the other.

The Cornell starting lineup will include Bill Stewart and Ned Bouton at forwards, Bud Harper at center, and Sam Hunter and Ted Burgess at guards.

Modzelewski clipped the former record, held by Hank Luisetti of Stanford, by two points.

The Rams and Crusaders tangled in a brilliant duel won by the Rhode Islanders, 62 to 56.

In the first game Providence College toyed with Boston College, 64 to 37.

The games realized a net of $5030 for the Navy Relief Fund, attracting a crowd of 4435 fans.

VERMONT BOY BEST EXAMPLE OF TRUE SKIER

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

PICO PEAK, RUTLAND, Vt., Feb. 17—Typifying the spirit of American youth, an inspiration to all those who knew him, is young Burt Porter, a native Vermonter. This lad was a sensation on skis and was slated to become one of the country's greatest racers. When in his teens he had won many major Eastern downhill and slalom events, displaying amazing skill and speed on his winged boards.

It was during a race on the dangerous Wildcat Trail in Pinkham Notch, N. H., last March, that Fate frowned upon Burt for the first time. He took an unfortunate spill, breaking his leg in such a peculiar manner that an amputation was necessary. This makes skiing sound like a very dangerous sport; but, remember, the average skier does not go in for racing of this type, and this particular accident was one of those freaks that only occur once in 10 years.

IN SURROUNDINGS HE LOVES

The race itself should have been postponed. The trail was icy and windblown, with the narrow corners very rutted. The U. S. Eastern Amateur Ski Ass'n, which sanctions these meets, should do something about determining whether or not conditions are favorable enough to warrant holding the contest.

After spending the summer convalescing in a hospital, Burt finally emerged wearing an artificial leg, his great courage and fighting spirit still sustaining him. Eventually, it is possible that he may learn to do some skiing on this leg, and only last week he tried on a pair of hickories on the level ground.

On his own volition, this expert has obtained a job working in the ski shop at the Pico Peak area. He is happy here amidst the familiar equipment which he loves so much. He waxes skis, sells or rents them with great glee, and gives invaluable advice to those who wish it.

UNCONQUERABLE WILL

Burt greeted us with a smile when we visited him in the shop.

"Business has certainly been rushing this season," he declared. "This war is making more people than ever before realize that they should be physically fit and ready to serve in their country's interests. Skiing is certainly a grand sport to get every one outdoors."

Gay and cheerful is this great racer, whose competitive days have ended. But life is just beginning for him, the life of serving skiers in the Green Mountains that are a part of him. Some day the lad will go on to greater things, for his is an unconquerable will.

Let's pay tribute to Burt Porter, American youth at its best. All skiers salute him!

Hub Doctor's Dog Put Down in Quail Championships

HERNANDO, Miss., Feb. 17 (AP)—The national amateur quail championship began here today after its opening braces had been postponed a day because of rain.

Spunky Creek Nina, owned by Mrs. L. A. Henning of Milwaukee, was paired in the opening brace with Zero, owned by Virgil Hawse of Staunton, Va. With an extra brace added to each day because of the postponement, six other contestants were put down today. They and their owners are:

War News, Dr. R. W. Kissane of Columbus, Ohio; Colonial Lady M., Dr. John Meacham of Boston; Congersman II, J. V. Conran of New Madrid, Mo.; Dr. Sam's Johnnie, Dr. Sam O. Black of Spartanburg, S. C.; Bobbitt's Peerless Pride, Louis Bobbitt of Winston Salem, N. C., and Hirshfield's Mercury, Dr. A. C. Hirshfield of Oklahoma City.

"CONCHITA"—Lovely Bess Ehrhardt brings to the ice intricate Mexican dance steps in this year's "Ice Follies," now performing at the Boston Garden. Miss Ehrhardt and Evelyn Chandler are the feminine stars with Roy Shipstad leading male.

Tigers' Star Rookie Isn't Afraid of Failure

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 17 (AP)—Lanky Dick Wakefield expects to start paying back in base hits the more than $50,000 the Detroit Tigers paid him to sign a contract last year, but he won't worry too much if they send him to the minors for more seasoning.

"I'll go in there and do my best," he grinned.

"But if the company looks too tough and they send me back to the minors for more experience, I won't worry. I think that's one reason some rookies don't make good their first trip—they worry about whether they'll click. The worry makes them tighten up and they can't hit."

SEEMS SENSIBLE

The 21-year-old Tiger outfielder said he doubted that the fanfare which accompanied his major league debut had proved any handicap.

"It might if I had let it," he explained. "But I made up my mind a long time ago to stay perfectly relaxed all the time, whether I'm doing as well as people expect me to or not."

The youngster believes he can hit major league pitching "because even though it's better than in the minors, I expect to improve too."

"You naturally play better when you're in better company," he explained. "In one way the difference in pitching helps you—you know the ball is going to be in there and all you have to do is hit it."

HIT .300 IN 1941

He rates the pitching in the Piedmont League, where he broke in with Winston-Salem after a sensational sophomore year on the University of Michigan's championship nine as "only a little better" than he encountered in college.

"I just had to bat against a pretty good pitcher in every game instead of only occasionally, the way it had been in college," he observed. "But there again, it helped me because I was playing every day instead of once or twice a week."

His batting average was just over the .300 mark last season.

Gremp, Masi, Potter In Good Standing

By BILL GRIMES

Like Sibby Sisti and Dick Errickson, Buddy Gremp and Phil Masi didn't lose any time getting their signed contracts back to Pres. Bob Quinn . . . As usual, Masi has been working since the close of the ball season and he'll report to Manager Casey Stengel at Sanford, Fla., in the well-known pink of condition . . . Gremp didn't make the same mistake he did a year ago. At the close of the 1940 season, he weighed 165 pounds and decided that a little extra weight would be to his advantage. So, he laid off basketball and spent most of his time eating. When he joined the Boston party in St. Louis a year ago this week, he tipped the beam at 216 and it was almost mid season before he could get into shape.

Nelson Potter, formerly of the Athletics, is now a member in good standing of the Sox. His contract was received yesterday . . . Jim Tabor, Sox third sacker, and Johnny Orlando, Win Green's assistant, have reservations to Sarasota for Sunday morning . . . Eddie Doherty, Sox public relation officer, was to have started South ten days ago. Now, it looks like he'll be a late arrival, due to unfinished business . . . Duffy Lewis is going to toss a little party for Boston baseball scribes who go to Florida . . . It will be staged on St. Patrick's Day.

The Chicago Blackhawks who have their eyes on the No. 1 or No. 2 spot of the N. H. L. race, will have a busy week-end. After playing the Red Wings in Detroit on Thursday, they will show in Montreal on Saturday and in New York against Rangers on Sunday . . . And, by the way, the Blackhawks top all teams for home attendance this season. They are enjoying a banner season. The best in the annals of hockey in the Windy City.

How does the ruling of the U. S. G. A. affect golf writers who are "cuff" members of clubs? Are they eligible to compete as amateurs? . . . During 1925, while they were playing for Salt Lake City under Duffy Lewis, Braves road secretary, Tony Lazzeri and Paul Strand hung up four Pacific Coast League records, which still stand. Tony established an all time high for runs scored (202), runs batted in (222) and home runs (60). And, Strand made 325 hits that season . . . The same year, while with the San Francisco Seals, Paul Waner set up the two-base hit record with 75 . . . Frank Sheilenbach, popular Sox coach is the holder of the P. C. The national physical fitness program has boomed business at the University Club. Many of the members who previously had limited their exercises to the "Third Floor" have joined the Health Course and the squash and badminton courts are busy from morning until late in the evening . . . The New England Golf Ass'n has always been more closely affiliated with the U. S. G. A than any of the individual state associations, so the cancelling of the "New Englands" was expected.

And, also, it will be the first time that the Krauts have performed for the R. C. A. F. . . . Bobby, Milt and Woody will be out there trying to pour in on and the Bruin defense is in for a busy evening . . . Until the news was flashed back from the Windy City that the Bruins had been shut out by the Blackhawks, the hockey fans in these parts had heard so little about the Rossmen since the Krauts departed they were beginning to suspect that the team had gone on a good will tour to South America.

Oldtimers Play Under Old Rules For Hoop Jubilee

The committee representing the Boston basketball commission, the N. E. A. A. A. and the Eastern Mass. board of approved basketball officials will conduct a Golden Jubilee basketball game Thursday, March 5, 1942, at the Boys' Clubs of Boston gymnasium, Charlestown.

The committee, headed by Nate Hurwitz, chairman, and consisting of Bill Mullen, of the Park Department; Rev. George M. Dowd, of the C. Y. O.; James Mulroy, of the School Centers; Charlie Meireck, of the West End House; Frank McLaughlin, of the Norfolk House, and Ed Kelleher, George Hoyt, Henry McGuinness, Win Carlson and Sam Belson of the officials' organization have arranged a program consisting of a reproduction of the first basketball game played 50 years ago. It will be a game between the leading professional players of 20 years ago using the same rules as governing the game then

SERVICE FUNDS TO GET LIFT FROM DODGERS

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Feb. 17 (AP)—Going far beyond all other ball clubs to support the nation's war effort, the Brooklyn Dodgers announced today they would donate their entire receipts from one home game, one road game and many exhibitions to service funds in 1942 and would admit at least 150,000 uniformed men this season free.

L. S. (Larry) MacPhail, president of the Dodgers and the man chiefly responsible for the major leagues arranging two All-Star charity games this year and agreeing to accept 10 per cent of all salaries in defense bonds, said he had tried to get all clubs to collaborate in the broader program that will be in effect at Brooklyn, but had failed

GLAD TO DO IT

MacPhail said the directors of the Brooklyn club, "recognizing its obligations and grateful for an opportunity to be of service in this crisis," had adopted the following program:

1—The entire receipts for one day at Ebbets Field and the Dodgers' share of one road game will be donated to some national service agency.

2—Every individual in the Brooklyn organization from president to batboy will purchase defense bonds and stamps. In addition the facilities of the radio broadcasts of the games, the billboards, score cards and public address system will be used to promote the sale of bonds and stamps.

3—The Dodgers will play exhibition games during the training season and the regular season with camp teams, donating all their receipts to camp athletic funds with no deductions for expenses.

4—Under plans to be agreed upon by all New York clubs, at least 150,000 uniformed service men will be admitted to Ebbets Field without charge; coaches, scouts and players will be available for instruction and such other services as are requested by the athletic officers of the Army, Navy and civilian defense organizations; all of the club's facilities, including the field, are extended to other organizations or industries for use in co-operation with the various service agencies.

"KNOCKS" A. J.

MacPhail said this outline would be followed as closely as possible by all 10 of Brooklyn's farm clubs in as many different minor leagues.

"I would have preferred to have adopted our program in co-operation and collaboration with the entire National League," he declared, "and I tried to sell the ideas at the meetings the first of the month but since we have been unable to go ahead on a league basis, I have decided to announce this plan for the Dodgers alone."

In a discussion of the major leagues' consideration of war-aid measures at the recent meetings, MacPhail asserted, "there were eight clubs in one league that opposed the plan for accepting part of our salary in defense bonds," he obviously was referring to the American League.
